

COUNTY OBSERVES ARMISTICE DAY

Supreme Court Promises To Consider Mooney Appeal

COURT ACTS ON PLEA OF ATTORNEYS

Case Brought Before Court for First Time Since 1918; Mooney Hopeful

ORDERS SENT WARDEN

Must Show Cause Within 40 Days Why Writ Should Not Be Filed in Court

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(UP)—Thomas J. Mooney today was promised consideration of the supreme court in his fight for freedom from San Quentin penitentiary where he has been imprisoned since 1916 after being found guilty of murder in connection with the preparedness day massacre.

The court acted on a plea of attorneys representing the labor leader to be allowed to file a petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

The court, while not granting this plea outright, directed the warden of San Quentin through his legal representatives to show cause within 40 days why Mooney's lawyers should not be allowed to file the writ.

The effect of the order is to bring the Mooney case before the court at least in its technical phases for the first time since 1918.

The action restores an element of hope to the case which has been in the public mind since its inception. The last hope to be defeated was when Upton Sinclair failed in his attempt to be elected governor of California. Sinclair had promised to pardon Mooney.

Permission to file the habeas corpus petition was asked Oct. 22 by Frank P. Walsh, noted labor attorney of New York City, John F. Flinnery, Washington, and George T. Davis, San Francisco.

The proceeding itself was unusual. The court frequently is asked to review habeas corpus proceedings in the lower courts but these are appeal proceedings. The tribunal in such instances is barred from studying the facts of the case but must confine itself to the law.

In the original proceedings invoked by Mooney's counsel the court was asked to consider all the elements surrounding his trial including the alleged use of perjured testimony by state's attorneys who prosecuted him for the alleged murder of Hetta Knapp by setting off the Preparedness Day parade bomb July 22, 1916.

Mooney contends that in keeping him in San Quentin after the discovery of evidence that much of the testimony on which he was convicted allegedly was perjured, he is being deprived of his liberty in violation of his constitutional guaranty of liberty and fair trial.

NINETEEN PERSONS DROWN IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 12.—(UP)—Nineteen persons, including Louis Freg, one of Mexico's most famous bull fighters, drowned when a heavy tide overturned two launches between Carmen Island, off the coast of Campeche state, and the mainland, a dispatch said today.

News of the tragedy reached Carmen City when Ernest Padillo and his small son reached shore exhausted after several hours' fight with the waves. Apparently they were the only survivors.

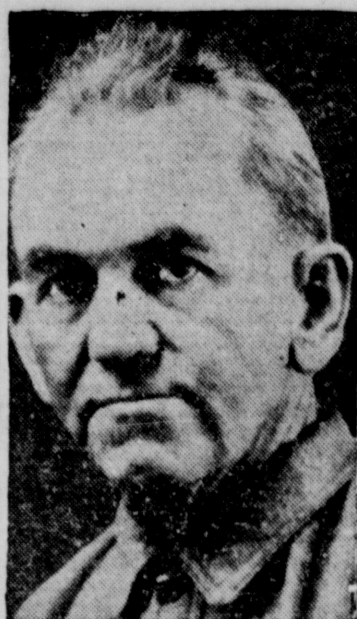

THREE FISHERMEN SAVED BY FLIERS

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 12.—Three fishermen were recovering from shock and submersion today and grateful to two naval aviators who rescued them from possible death in the ocean.

Lt. Don Smith and Chief Machinist's Mate C. Cornwell flew to the trio's assistance when advised their boat had capsized off Mission Beach. While Smith jockeyed the plane in the running tide, Cornwell dove in and rescued J. E. McNutt, Capt. W. R. McNutt, a retired army officer, and his son, George P. Neal, Prescott, Ariz.

HOPES REVIVED

Thomas J. Mooney, who was promised consideration by the U. S. supreme court in fight for freedom from San Quentin.

WINTER RELIEF BEING STUDIED BY PRESIDENT

Borah's Criticism on Big Waste in Relief Puts Problem Foremost

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(UP)—Sharp winter winds, Sen. William E. Borah's bitter criticism and an attack on underlying economic causes today thrust the relief question to the fore as the New Deal's most pressing problem.

Action went forward on two fronts. The first was a reconsideration of the immediate needs of the nation's 4,000,000 families dependent upon the government for food, clothing and shelter. Winter's approach lent emphasis to the necessity for speed.

The second was a new study of the broad social and economic problems which have given birth to the immediate relief situation. Spurred by Borah's charges of waste in relief administration, Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins was preparing a thorough check of his vast organization. He has already issued orders to weed out all chiselers from relief rolls. He is seeking to lighten the federal burden by insisting that states bear a fair share of costs.

Borah is placing in the hands of relief administration investigators the information on which his attacks have been based.

Hopkins has troubles in addition to the Borah complaints. One is the question of personnel. The Colorado state administration has been dismissed by Gov. Edwin Johnson. Hopkins confirmed the dismissal despite protests by the relief officer. In Tennessee Sen. Kenneth McKellar, D., is demanding the resignation of State Administrator Walter L. Simpson on charges that relief workers campaigned against Democratic candidates.

There have been indications of difficulties in other states. The program for this winter presents difficulties. Relief is now costing the federal treasury $30,000,000 a week. Cold weather will shoot the figure up. Most money is spent in direct aid. Hopkins would prefer a made-work program.

LINDBERGH NURSE WILL BE WITNESS

GLASGOW, Scotland, Nov. 12.—(UP)—Betty Gow, former nurse for the Lindbergh family, has been asked officially by United States authorities to be ready to leave for the United States at a moment's notice to testify in the trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, alleged kidnaper of the Lindbergh baby, her relatives said today.

"She is ready and willing to go to the United States at any time, although to the best of her knowledge she never saw Hauptmann," her brother said. "However, if her evidence will be in any way helpful, she will go gladly."

"She has been in constant touch with American authorities ever since she came home."

He refused to indicate whether a sailing date had been set.

Miss Gow is closely guarded by relatives and is not permitted to leave home without an escort.

TROOPS AWAIT ORDER TO MOVE TO PARKER DAM

Governor Moeur of Arizona Delays Order Pending Word from Ickes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(UP)—Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes said today there was "no occasion" for calling out National Guardsmen in the Parker dam disturbance in Arizona.

Ickes told newspapermen the controversy was one to be settled eventually in the courts.

"Arizona is entitled to half the power from the dam," he said, "and if they don't get too excited about it I think the situation will be cleared up satisfactorily."

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 12.—(UP)—Immediate movement of Arizona's national guardsmen to the Parker Dam Site on the Colorado river to block construction operations was delayed today pending word from federal authorities at Washington.

Gov. B. B. Moeur, who ordered mobilization as the latest phase of his fight against the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California, said the troops would proceed to Parker tomorrow unless some satisfactory reply was received from Interior Secretary Ickes.

Moeur notified Ickes of his intention to send troops after he had failed to reach an agreement with California and other interested states in the matter of water diversion rights from the Colorado river. Arizona has demanded 2,800,000 acre feet of water from Parker and Boulder dams and power rights. The demand was embodied in a set of contracts filed with Ickes. The contracts are scheduled for hearing Thursday at Washington.

Six national guardsmen have been on duty at the dam site since last March. The new units, including a company of infantrymen, a machine gun detachment, a medical corps, headquarters group and service company were prepared to join them on a moment's notice. The six troops already at the "front" have prevented Metropolitan district engineers from crossing over from the California side of the river.

HOUSING LOANS IN NATION INCREASING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(UP)—The Federal Housing Administration reported today that, despite the advance of winter, modernization and repair loans are rising.

The FHA reported that in the eleven weeks of the campaign loan totals have advanced from 117 loans of $56,937 the first week to $690 for $2,350,000 for the week before last. The trend continued into last week, the administration reported. The trend has brought both surprise and pleasure to the FHA which had feared cold weather would quickly bring an end to the stream of loans.

Some difficulties were reported in the second phase of the housing program, the insured mortgage section. Some large banks have hesitated about entering the field because it would require the setting up of a new division and also would bring them into competition with present mortgage agencies which are their customers.

JAPAN IS ASKED TO EXPLAIN SPENDING

GENEVA, Nov. 12.—(UP)—The League of Nations mandate commission today adopted its report to the council, announcing formally that it had asked Japan to explain expenditures for harbor construction and airports in its mandated Pacific islands.

The report will be discussed at the January meeting of the council, which is empowered to consider the future of the islands in view of Japan's announced intention to withdraw from the league. Japan claims the islands are hers, despite her withdrawal. It has been suggested that Japan was fortifying the islands.

UNITED STATES AUTO TRADE-IN ACT ILLEGAL

Legality Of Code Itself Unaffected

Price Fixing Provisions Held Contrary to Constitution by Jurist

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 12.—(UP)—U. S. Judge Edgar S. Vaughn today declared unconstitutional the government's attempt to regulate, by NRA code, the prices the retail automobile industry shall pay on traded-in used cars.

He did not rule on the constitutionality of the code itself nor on the national recovery act under which the code was prepared. It was said to be the first case in which the auto (retail) code had been impaired by court decision, either federal or state.

Judge Vaughn's decision, in a case involving the Kinnebrew Motor Co. of Oklahoma City, was that the price-fixing provisions were contrary to the constitution in that they attempted to control commerce which was not interstate.

The decision was the third in which Judge Vaughn has held invalid sections of the new deal measures. A. A. A. Milk-licensing and N. R. A. oil code provisions figured in the other cases.

Referring to the government's intention to fix price on used cars when these were made part of a trade, Judge Vaughn said:

"If it be true of a second hand automobile it would be true of a worn-out suit of clothes, a pair of shoes, or a discarded shirt."

"Yes if a private citizen can not dispose of such articles in which he actually has a property right without complying with some provision or regulation of a code assumed to have been made by virtue of an act of congress, congress seeks to control matters which the constitution delegates to the state."

DOKE WILL DEMAND IMMEDIATE RETRIAL

WOODLAND, Calif., Nov. 12.—(UP)—Defense attorneys plan to ask the Yolo county court for an immediate retrial of the white hibiscus slaying case, they revealed today.

Confident of acquittal in a second trial, they hope to have Judson C. Doke, accused of slaying his wife's paramour, out of jail by Christmas. The first trial ended in a jury disagreement and the date for the new one will be set Tuesday by Judge Neal Chalmers.

While the defense counsel was preparing for the court appearance, there were reports of a split between them and Helen Louise Doke, wife of the defendant and sweetheart of the slain poet, Lamar Hollingshead.

Mrs. Doke was said to have claimed that after requesting her to remain in the background during the first trial, the defense attorneys "had turned on" her.

ELLEN M'ADOO AND GROOM IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—(UP)—Mrs. Rafael De Onates, the former Ellen M'Adoo, 19-year-old daughter of United States Senator William G. M'Adoo, arrived in Chicago today with her husband en route to Washington.

Upon their arrival here the newlyweds smiled upon newspapermen but replied to all questions with "I don't know." They were married Saturday at Albuquerque, N. M.

They consented, however, to pose for photographers, the bride in a gray kidskin coat and her husband hatless.

ALCOHOL USE IN MEDICINES IS CONDEMNED

W. C. T. U. Convention Turns Attention to Illicit Traffic in Drugs

CLEVELAND, Nov. 12.—(UP)—Undue use of alcohol and drugs in medical treatment was condemned today by the women's Christian Temperance Union.

Meeting in the first national convention since the organization's 60 years of temperance work was thrown aside for prohibition repeal, delegates turned to consideration of the illicit drug traffic and the "hazards of self-preservation of alcohol."

Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess of Orange, Calif., head of the medical temperance department of the W.C.T.U., termed medicinal use of alcohol "the only respectable bulwark of the liquor trade." She pointed out that as far back as 1871 the American Medical Association passed a resolution which read:

"Alcohol should be classed with other powerful drugs, and when prescribed medically it should be done with conscientious caution and responsibility."

Mrs. Kendall Hess condemned the routine use of alcohol in medical treatment, declaring it should be used "only for tiding a patient over an emergency."

"A popular custom in this age of speed is the use of narcotics to relieve pressure," she said. "Evidence that a vast army of people is lured and won by modern salesmanship in the fact that $625,000,000 is spent annually for patent medicines and remedies."

"I would that faith in things spiritually were as deep-seated as belief in the power of drugs to restore health."

A double-barreled attack on war and booze was launched by speakers who pointed out that both the World War and prohibition repeal has "repudiated all promises." A five-year plan proposed by Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, national W. C. T. U. president, calling for a renewed drive for abolition of the liquor traffic, together with cooperation with all movements for world peace, was studied by delegates.

Dr. William L. Stidger, head of the department of homiletics, school of theology, Boston University, declared "there can be no compromise in the fight against the old order of booze and war."

"War and alcohol go together," she said. "Those who dre was into the World War have broken every promise they made, in exactly the same way that those who brought about repeal have broken every promise made when they asked us to vote against prohibition."

"Our fight is against the old order—war and booze—and we dare not stop."

Dr. Milton A. Conover, Yale University, was to address the convention late today on the subject: "Will There Be a New Political Alliance?"

BRITISH WILL AID IN POLICING SAAR

LONDON, Nov. 12.—(UP)—Former British army officers are being recruited to reinforce police in the Saar pending the coming plebiscite, Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald admitted in the house of commons today.

In reply to a question by George Lansbury, labor leader, MacDonald said the government had received various applications from ex-officers.

In accordance with the resolution of the council of the league of nations on June 4, recommending that member states assist in building up the Saar police, the applications were forwarded to the Saar governing commission, he said.

The applications, MacDonald added, are being sifted to determine whether the men have had police experience and are able to speak both French and German. However, he said, of 20 officers recruited so far, only two are British.

Wonder If They Begrudged Two Minutes

LONDON, Nov. 12.—(UP)—Workers in the Vickers works at Crayford observed two minutes of silence yesterday in commemoration of Armistice Day. Then they returned to their benches, turning out machine guns, rifles, and poisonous gas projectors.

LOUISIANA TO PASS LAWS TO ASSIST DEBTOR

Solons Expected to Place Moratorium on Debts Exceeding $8

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 12.—(UP)—The Louisiana legislature assembled today on the call of Sen. Huey P. Long to pass "some poor peoples' laws" and "crack down on the public utilities."

The special session convenes at 10 p. m. tonight and is expected to take up immediately Long's principal legislation—a two-year moratorium on all debts amounting to more than $8. The Kingfish recently lent $7 to several thousand Baton Rouge citizens and Louisiana State University students so they could go on his football junkie to Nashville. He wants to get that back.

The legislature also will implement constitutional amendments approved Nov. 7 by voters exempting the first $2000 of real estate assessments from taxation, and establishing a 2 to 4 per cent income tax. These items also are part of Long's set of "poor peoples' laws."

Among the state senators tonight will be Abe Mickel, Syrian-born football star of L. S. U., to represent East Baton Rouge. He was "elected" by acclamation at a parish mass-meeting at which Long presided. This is not the method of election prescribed by the constitution, but that will make no difference, nor will the fact that Mickel is resident of Mississippi. Long said he was a state senator and he already is on the payroll.

Long will whip his utilities legislation into shape today. Until it is introduced its exact form will not be known.

The session will run three days. Long in previous sessions has occupied a place in the center of the house floor, screaming directions to the members on how they were to vote, and this one is expected to be run off according to that routine.

U. S. WILL DISCUSS TREATY WITH JAPAN

LONDON, Nov. 12.—(UP)—The United States moved today to sound out Japan's opinion on the advisability of a treaty to establish international control of the arms traffic.

Hugh Wilson, representing the United States, called on Ambassador Teunee Matsudaira at the Japanese embassy. They were understood to have discussed whether it would be advisable to embody such a treaty in a general arms convention or draft a separate agreement.

Because of difficulties entailed in reaching a comprehensive agreement among the powers, it was believed the latter course was favored.

At the meeting of the steering committee of the arms conference at Geneva on November 20, it was expected the United States and Great Britain would propose rigid regulation of the arms traffic under supervision of an international committee. Wilson recently sounded out the French and Italian attitude on the proposal.

BEACH CITY IS HOST TO THOUSANDS

Parade of 100 Floats and Marching Units Features Big Celebration

Street Dancing and Grand Ball This Evening to Climax Annual Event

ALL ROADS led to Huntington Beach today and the great pageant of Americanism unfolded there in commemoration of the end of hostilities in the great war, 16 years ago. Thousands of spectators lined the streets of the beach city as the Armistice Day parade, composed of more than 100 floats and marching divisions, swept past.

Leading the huge parade was the massed colors of the legion units throughout Orange county, directly followed by the Santa Ana post drum and bugle corps, resplendent in natty brown and red marching uniforms. Flashes of 12 posts headed the procession.

Following the file and drum corps of the Spanish-American War Veterans rolled the champions, ambulances and trucks of the 152nd Coast Artillery, National Guard, and the brown marching files of the National Guard and nearby C. C. C. corps, and behind them the marching units of legion posts, and legion auxiliaries.

Leading the division of floats was the Newport Beach legion unit, "The Ship of State," depicting a replica of Old Ironsides steering a course through rocky waters. Sixty floats comprised this division of the procession.

Outstanding among entries in the float division was the Huntington Beach chamber of commerce display, "The Signaling of the Constitution," which received much applause for its beauty and historic accuracy. Seal Beach, portraying "The Unknown Soldier," received cheers from the reviewing stand as the float rolled by, with taps floating out over the grave.

Bands from Santa Ana, Fullerton, Long Beach, Anaheim and many other nearby cities played martial music for the marchers, thrilling the crowds as they dipped their flags in passing. Drum, rifle and bugle corps mingled with the brass of the bands. For the first time no G.A.R. veterans marched this year.

Bringing up the rear of the two hour pageant rode the horsemen, in silver, red and gold. Several hundred comprised this final group.

Armistice day festivities at the beach city continued this afternoon, with a football game between Huntington Beach and Brea-Olinda, free vaudeville, and rodeo at the ball park, all starting at 2:30 p. m. A free street dance was scheduled for the evening, at 7:30, to be followed by the grand ball at Memorial hall, at 8:30.

Judging of entries was scheduled for 3 p. m., with the events to be made tonight at the ball. Judges for the various divisions of the parade were as follows:

Floats: Louis Danz, Anaheim; Mrs. J. K. McDonald, Huntington Beach, and Sydney Davidson, Newport Beach.

Musical groups: S. J. Mustof, Santa Ana; R. M. Curns, Los Angeles, and Oscar Brower, Anaheim. Legion auxiliaries: Mrs. Florence Smith, Anaheim; Mrs. Marjorie Peabody, La Habra, and Mrs. Albert Timm, Newport Beach.

Marching units: Leon Gilliam, Placentia; Donald Jones, Fullerton, and Ted Craig, Brea.

Military units: Captain Ray Smith, Anaheim; Lieut. Will Vestal, Fort McArthur, and Captain Dean Love, Anaheim.

Equestrian entries: Bill Jones, Huntington Beach.

SYNAGOGUE, CHURCH BLAMED FOR WARS

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(UP)—The church and the synagogue are partly to blame for war, Gen. Smedley D. Butler, former marine corps officer, told the congregation B'Nai B'Sh'ur. "The churches peeped up the boys in 1917," he declared. "The next time the people who believe in God cannot preach that war is a holy crusade, it is not. It's the greatest curse of the civilized world, the greatest international racket."

gram but that is more expensive. There is controversy over the work program already instituted. Private industry has complained vigorously against allowing relief workers to produce for their own use.

Hopkins' dissatisfaction with the present program was emphasized in a speech in New York last night. He characterized it as a "totally un-American way" of meeting the problem "which should not be continued a day longer than is necessary."

"I know of no one who is at all familiar with the problem of unemployment relief," he said, "who believes the present system should be continued a day longer than is necessary. A method must be found to provide a way of life for these millions of people—that will assure them an opportunity of earning an income which will provide a decent American standard of living."

It is this direction—the elimination of the necessity of relief through vital social and economic innovations—that other administration efforts are progressing.

The president appointed over the week-end a 19-member council to assist his committee on economic security in recommending a program of social insurance. This would put unemployment insurance, old age security and adequate health care on a permanent basis. The administration program is expected to be early business in the next congress.

LAGUNANS PREPARE FOR PLAY NOV. 30

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 12.—Productions plans for the premiere here of John J. Bassett's three-act play, "Rockabye Baby," said to be a side-splitting comedy, set for November 30 with repeat performance on December 1, are progressing satisfactorily, inquires at the Community Playhouse revealed today.

The production will be under the personal direction of Andor de Soos, recently of Pasadena and Hollywood, with Julie Robertson, Priscilla Frazer, Paul Jackson and Hiram Shaw handling the principal roles. Special sets are being created under direction of Tom Pillsbury. The lighting effects are being worked out by Volney Tanner, assisted by Richard Malone.

The newly organized workshop dramatic class is being conducted along the lines of the much discussed Boleslowsky method of acting, a feature which is attracting a number of new candidates for Thespian honors.

'Singing Tree' Laguna Mystery

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 12.—Residents of this beach city are wondering if they are going to acquire new fame through the medium of a "singing tree," a wonder of the world, if true. Miss Pearl Way, San Dimas, journeyed to Laguna beach recently to find the vocal tree, after reading in the October 21 issue of the Girls' Companion that a 125-foot eucalyptus tree here once sang to drown out an Indian pagan. However, no arborial prima donna could be discovered, and local civic organizations, including the chamber of commerce, disclaimed any knowledge of the phenomenon.

BREA LEAGUES MEET
BREA, Nov. 12.—The Junior League of Youth of the Congregational church met in guild room of the church at 6 o'clock on Sunday night. The leader was Robert Kubin and the topic was "What is the Lesson in the Cleansing of the Temple for the Young People of Today?"

The League of Youth, an older group, met at 7:30 o'clock in the home of the pastor, for an informal discussion on religion and social science.

China Builds $100,000 'White House'

China's $100,000 "White House" at Nanking will be ready for occupancy before Christmas, after two years' construction work, but the occupant is uncertain. It may be Lin Sen, China's president, or it may be Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, actual government head. The mansion, shown here, is built in purely Chinese style, with yellow brick walls and blue glazed tile roof.

ONE KILLED, 10 INJURED IN ORANGE COUNTY TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS OVER WEEKEND

With the death yesterday of Warren F. Youngren, 21, of Los Angeles, in a motorcycle-automobile accident at La Habra, automobile deaths in Orange county this year totalled 51, as compared to 46 at this time last year and the 1933 grand total of 56. Ten persons were hurt in other wrecks.

Youngren's motorcycle crashed into a car driven by Paul Knecht, of Los Angeles at Central avenue and the 101 highway at 9:30 a. m. yesterday, throwing the youth over the car and injuring three persons in the machine. Youngren died five hours later at the Fullerton General hospital from a basal skull fracture. An inquest will be held at 10 a. m. Wednesday from the McCallum and Suters funeral home in Fullerton. The victim is survived by his mother, Mrs. Rose Youngren of Los Angeles.

Leon Barnett, 17, Mrs. Arthur Murdy and two small daughters, all of Midway City, were hurt at 10 a. m. today when the Barnett and Murdy cars crashed at Washington and Monroe streets in Midway City.

Freda Losh, 604 Grand avenue, Orange, was taken to the Orange county hospital for treatment after cars driven by E. L. Myers, 204 North Garnsey and Lawrence Wright, 24 R. D. 1, Costa Mesa, collided on West Seventeenth street Saturday night. Myers had been drinking but was not intoxicated, according to police. He was slightly hurt.

Lillian Casillo, 24, 1826 West Second street, was hurt Saturday when a car driven by Lucas Nevares, 20, Santa Ana, collided with a Laguna Beach stage driven by George Mehm, 24 712 South Garnsey, at Fourth and Spurgeon streets.

Mayor and Mrs. L. A. Hogue of Brea narrowly escaped death yesterday morning when they were seriously hurt in a head-on crash on Poothill boulevard 15 miles west of San Bernardino. Both are in the San Antonio Community Hospital, where Hogue has a broken left arm, broken ribs and serious cuts and bruises, and Mrs. Hogue has deep scalp lacerations, wrist injury, and chest and body bruises. Both will recover physicians said, but will be confined at least a week in the hospital. Miss Ma de Bell, 26, San Bernardino welfare worker, riding in the other car, suffered a broken leg and arm and other serious injuries.

Young Lawyer To Be Congressman

MALVERN, Ark., Nov. 9.—(UP)—John L. McCellan, once the nation's youngest attorney, is the sixth Arkansas district's next congressman. He defeated Congressman D. D. Glover, fellow townsman, for the Democratic nomination, which is the equivalent of election in Arkansas.

McCellan was admitted to the bar at 17 in 1913 by a special act of the legislature. He was recognized then as the youngest practicing lawyer in the United States.

L. A. PASTOR SPEAKS
PLACENTIA, Nov. 12.—Dr. Howard Kelly, of Los Angeles, talked at the morning meeting of Placentia Calvary church yesterday and the gospel team of the Bible institute of Los Angeles was in charge of the evening service in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Don Milligan, who is visiting his sister at Balboa Island.

YOUNG PEOPLE IN PARTY
PLACENTIA, Nov. 12.—The college group of young men and women of Calvary church enjoyed a "scavenger" party Friday night. Forty young people joined in visiting many homes and finally assembling at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Hays, as guests of Hazel Hays, to enjoy a social evening.

The governor said his action was designed to force a showdown. "If we haven't any rights in the river, I want to know it, and the state can quit spending money to protect them," he said. For 20 years we have poured money into the river squabble without a definite understanding.

Parker dam is being built as a diversion unit in the immense project of supplying Los Angeles and Southern California with water for drinking and irrigation purposes.

Kindergarten And Primary Teachers To Meet Tuesday

The Orange County Kindergarten and Primary teachers association will meet tomorrow at the Intermediate school at Orange at 3 p. m., according to an announcement made this morning. The address of the afternoon will be made by Miss Winifred Van Hagen, assistant director of health and physical education in California.

In the evening teachers of three sections of the county are to stage playdays, with one at Orange Tuesday at the high school at 7:30 p. m. one at San Juan Capistrano and one Thursday evening at the Huntington Beach high school. Miss Van Hagen will be in charge of the trio of events.

Civic Players To Hold Dinner And Program Thursday

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 12.—A distinctive Bohemian atmosphere is promised for a typical "village" dinner and house party to be given next Thursday night by the Civic Players at the Little Art theater on Thalia street in honor of the cast of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," according to Wayne Moore, director of the organization.

An impromptu entertainment program has been arranged for the occasion including selections from recent Broadway hits and classical compositions.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, Nov. 12.—Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ford have as their guest over the week end, Mr. Ford's mother, of Petaluma. Mrs. Mabel Clough and Mrs. Ethel Carter were recent Long Beach visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hanline and son, Billy Hanline, with Raymond Rose as their guest, attended the U. S. C. California football game at the Los Angeles Coliseum Saturday.

A. B. Crane and Clifford Crane, who are employed at Arlington, came home Saturday to spend the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Percy and daughter, Miss Frances Percy, of Los Angeles, were week end guests of Miss Leora Blakey.

Miss Camille Christopher, local junior in the Huntington Beach high school, is to take one of the leading parts in the opera, "The Red Mill," which is being given next spring by the high school. She was given the part of "Tera" the bar maid. She is the daughter of Mrs. Aletha Ryckman.

Rescued from Cellar Dungeon

Weak from hunger and two weeks' confinement in the opium-laden darkness of the cellar dungeon in which the gang that smuggled them into the United States had concealed them, these Chinese youths are shown philosophically accepting their new status as prisoners of Federal agents, who rescued them in a raid on a deserted mansion at Keyport, N. J. Three of the 18 men seized are pictured at Keyport before being sent to Ellis Island.

President and Mother Go to Church

Arrange Lecture In Garden Grove

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 16.—Geoffrey Morgan, noted writer and lecturer, will speak on the subject, "You Get What You Pay For," at a meeting sponsored by all civic organizations of the community in the Washington school auditorium Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Lindbergh's Sister Improved

PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 12.—(UP)—Mrs. Aubrey Neil Morgan, sister of Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, was reported out of danger today after undergoing an emergency operation for appendicitis.

Mrs. Morgan was stricken with an acute attack of appendicitis Saturday at Los Angeles harbor while preparing to board a boat for Mexico with a party of friends, including Mrs. Will Rogers.

GOT WRONG KIND
MODESTO, Cal. (UP)—The next time James Martin has a desire for a duck dinner he will make certain the ducks are dead. While several persons were engaged in a shooting contest at a gallery here, Martin allegedly seized the first prize—a pair of ducks—and dashed down an alley. Quacking of the birds attracted attention and Martin was overtaken and arrested.

PETURBED
OAKDALE, Cal.—(UP)—John Quistlin, 28, apparently became agitated after he was locked in the city jail on a charge of drunken driving, officials believed. The morning after the arrest Chief of Police E. C. Wood arrived at the jail to find the stove overturned and broken plumbing fixtures torn up and scattered about the room, window bars bent and pulled loose and Quistlin sitting quietly in a corner.

MRS. GREEN HONORED
LOS ALAMITOS, Nov. 12.—The Los Alamitos of the Los Alamitos Community church honored Mrs. Grace E. Green Thursday afternoon with a surprise birthday shower. Refreshments were served to 15 members and two guests.

At a brief business meeting of this feature were Mrs. Josie Shoemaker, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gowen, Mrs. Laura Henderson, Mrs. Sarah House, Mrs. Grace Gross and Mrs. Elsie Mae Henry.

A short business meeting concluded the evening, with Miss B. Pearl Nicholson, noble grand, in the chair. Plans were made for friendship night to be observed Saturday evening, November 24. Members from the various lodges of the state and county will be special guests.

Although it cannot be called military training, the activity in Germany shown here is causing uneasiness in France as the Saar autonomy election nears, with fear of a Nazi putsch growing. The German policemen are shown as they practiced shooting at a target from the backs of jumping horses.

YOUTH INVENTS POCKET RADIOS

KERNEY, Neb.—(UP)—Pocket radio, made entirely by hand, during candle-light hours, have been put on the market here by Paul Beshore, inventor, producer and distributor.

Not yet 20, Beshore started his inventing career at an early age, building his first radio at ten. He has continued with his inventive genius until now he has brought it to the stage where it is yielding profits.

For the past six months every member of his family has been kept busy making the pocket radio, trying to keep up with the orders which come rolling in every day.

The tiny radio consists of a box, four by two inches and about one inch deep, with one dial on the face of it, a single earphone and two other cords, one an aerial and the other the ground. The invention is a complete success. Beshore even has engaged the medium of national advertising in magazines, and has received many orders from all parts of the United States.

When the orders come in too fast, the boys in the family find it necessary to stay up all night working on the radio.

"I came downstairs one morning," Paul's mother said, "to find the boys still working and with 32 radios completed and 4 boxes ready for mailing."

Paul is a graduate of Kearney high school and hopes that profits reaped from the sale of the radios will provide the necessary finances for a course in electrical engineering in college.

Capistrano Man, L. A. Girl Marry

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Nov. 12.—At a ceremony Saturday in the mission grounds Miss Helen Agnes Shannon, daughter of Michael F. Shannon, grand exalted ruler of the Elks lodge, and Mrs. Shannon, of Los Angeles, became the bride of Enrique de la Vega Jr., of San Juan Capistrano. The ceremony was performed by Father Arthur J. Hutchinson of the mission in the presence of friends and relatives of the bride and bridegroom.

Mrs. de la Vega is a graduate of Scripps college, and the bridegroom attended Loyola university.

GETS LEADING ROLE
WINTERSBURG, Nov. 12.—The leading feminine roll in "The Red Mill," an operetta being presented by the Huntington Beach Union High school next spring, has been given to a Wintersburg young woman, Miss Lois Treese, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Treese, of Huntington Beach boulevard. Miss Treese will take the part of "Gretchen."

GARDEN GROVE
GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 12.—Mrs. Murray Campbell, of Greensburg, Pa., and Mrs. Riley Kuehn and two children, of Fort Lewis, Wash., are guests in the home of the former's sister, Mrs. F. P. Roselot.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Franks have departed for Kansas, where they will remain until after the holidays with relatives and friends.

Mrs. A. Reece, of Waco, Texas, is visiting for a couple of months in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wesley Smith.

A six and a half pound daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Claude Gill at their home here November 7. Mrs. Gill will be remembered as Miss Virginia McDonald.

Death Notices
A WORD OF COMFORT

We must not hope to fathom the mysterious ways of life this side of Paradise but we know that God does not permit a burden to come to us without having provided strength sufficient to carry it.

It is your task to demonstrate the miracle which God can work through a man's triumph over the seemingly insurmountable. The heaviness of your burden is evidence that God has superior confidence in you and that He is committing you to undertake a task of deep significance. He trusts you to win and will give you power to do so.

Itinerant Given Severe Beating

Brutally beaten as he was sleeping in a box car early yesterday morning, James Wendell, an itinerant, reported to police yesterday that his unknown assailant had robbed him of several articles of clothing.

Wendell was taken to the Orange county hospital for treatment after the fight. He said that a young man about 25 years of age, wearing an overcoat, jumped upon him in the box car while he was sleeping. After the fight, the alleged thief is said to have jumped on a northbound Santa Fe freight train with another man.

EQUIPMENT IS SEIZED; NINE ARE ARRESTED

County law officers "cracked down" on Seal Beach chip games and tango parlors again Saturday night, following action of the alleged gambling places in opening for business last Tuesday night.

The raids resulted in the arrest on gambling charges of nine men and a woman, closing of two chip games and one tango parlor, and confiscation of equipment valued at more than $3000.

The three raids, made simultaneously at 9:30 p. m., found about 12 patrons in The Mirror, 106 Main street, about 10 in Harry's place, 113 1-2 Main street, and more than 40 in Larry's Tango parlor.

Previous raids were made on July 26 but all the defendants were found not guilty in the Seal Beach justice court and felony charges brought against one group of operators were dismissed in the Santa Ana justice court.

Closed During Campaign
Despite the lack of convictions, the establishments closed down during the primary election campaign and until after last Tuesday's general election, with the exception of one tango parlor, which remained open for a time, with tickets good for free games being given winners.

Sheriff's officers and district attorney's men gathered new evidence and laid the foundation for the raids after visiting Seal Beach Friday night.

All persons arrested in the three places were taken immediately before Justice Fred Smith in the Seal Beach city hall where they posted $100 bonds for their appearance in court at 2 p. m. Wednesday. The men arrested in The Mirror and Harry's Place were charged with violation of Section 330 of the penal code, relative to gambling, while the six persons arrested in Larry's Tango parlor were charged with gambling and conducting a lottery.

Three Raids Parties
About 40 patrons were in Larry's Tango parlor when Deputy Sheriff Merle Dean, Herman Zabel and R. R. Lutes stopped operations. The operators arrested were Ted Conroy, Norris Rathgen, Jack Foster, Charles Robinson, Larry Moore and Miss June Jessing.

Operators Mike Levy and E. B. Stewart were arrested in Harry's Place by Deputy Sheriffs R. E. Steinberger and Ezra Stanley and Investigator Robert Sandon from the district attorney's office. There were about 12 patrons in the place at the time of the raid.

The operators arrested in The Mirror were Philip Post and Arthur Winter. Deputies G. F. McKelvey, James Ragan, James Musick and Fred Humiston composed the raiding party. About 12 persons were playing at the time of the arrests, the officers said.

In both The Mirror and Harry's place, officers dismantled the equipment and confiscated the large glass-fronted wheel and electric motors, each set being valued at $1500. The property was stored in the county jail.

The three places raided were the only ones operating Saturday night, it was declared by sheriff's officers. Seal Beach police did not help with the raids, although the county officers made a wide search to contact Police Chief Lee Howard before making the arrests, they declared.

Two Girls, One Boy Are Born On Armistice Day

SUPERVISORS MAKING VOTE CHECK TODAY

The Board of Supervisors today was engaged in the official canvass of ballots cast in last Tuesday's general election.

Checking over the precinct returns at the rate of 30 precincts per hour, the board expects to complete the canvass by tonight.

The canvass of absent-voter ballots is scheduled tomorrow by two special boards to be named by the supervisors for that task. Today was the deadline for receiving such ballots. County Clerk J. M. Backs had issued 914 absent voter ballots prior to the election.

Court Notes

Henry Ponza paid a $1 fine in police court Saturday for a minor traffic violation.

F. Elliot, charged with drunkenness, was fined $5 in police court Saturday.

P. Diosdado and Leslie Richard, charged with drunkenness, paid a $15 fine in police court Saturday.

James Harvey was certified to the juvenile court Saturday by Judge J. G. Mitchell on a vagrancy charge.

Charles Snyder, serving a 75-day term for vagrancy, paid the $16 balance of his $100 fine and was released from the county jail Saturday.

Local Briefs

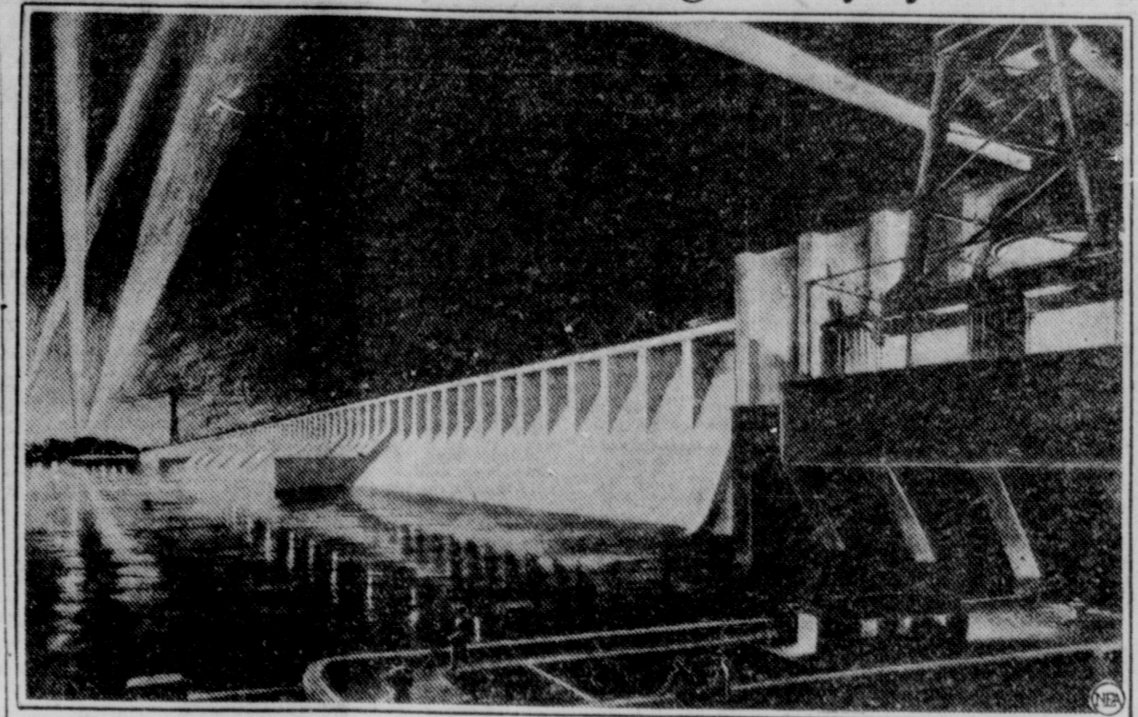

City councilmen will not meet tonight, because of the holiday, and will next convene on Monday, November 19. All city offices were closed today.

Eather Engstrom, 23, of Anaheim, and Eugene Richtmyer, 24, of Anaheim, have been issued a marriage license in San Diego.

Demonstrating the resuscitator, an instrument to revive drowning persons, the Santa Ana fire department will furnish a program for members of the first aid class in their meeting at Frances Willard junior high school Tuesday evening.

Because of the Armistice day observance no adult evening classes will be held tonight.

Wheeler Dam Shown in Amazing Beauty by Architect

Starting in its massive beauty, the $40,000,000 Wheeler dam is shown here in an architect's conception of the completed project. The huge barrier is being built 15 miles above Wilson dam in the Tennessee River, and is part of the TVA program. More than a mile long and 60 feet high, it is being built primarily for flood control and navigation, with power at first being only a by-product. A 45,000-horsepower turbine will be installed, with space for additional installations that will total 450,000 horsepower.

S. A. WOMAN GETS RECIPE APPROVAL

Mrs. Bolles, 1501 North Ross street, Santa Ana, California, has just been awarded a Certificate of Recipe Endorsement by Better Homes & Gardens for her recipe, "Custard Sponge Cake."

This certificate, which brings national recognition to Mrs. Bolles, is given by Better Homes & Gardens only to distinguished recipes which pass its testing kitchen's tests for dependability, excellence of taste and family usefulness.

Mrs. Bolles' endorsed recipe follows:
Custard Sponge Cake
1 cupful of sifted cake flour
1 teaspoonful of cream of tartar
1-4 teaspoonful of salt
4 egg yolks
1 teaspoonful of vanilla
1-2 cupfuls of sugar
1-2 cupful of water
8 egg whites.

Sift the pastry flour, cream of tartar and salt together 4 times. Beat the egg yolks and vanilla until thick. Beat the egg whites until they hold a point. Beat the sugar and water until it spins a thread then pour gradually over the beaten egg whites, beating all the time. Beat until cold. Add egg yolks and vanilla and mix well. Then fold in the sifted flour mixture. Place in an ungreased angel food pan and bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) for about 1 hour. Invert the pan until cold. Remove and slice the cake into 3 layers and put together with the following custard filling:

2 tablespoonfuls of cornstarch
3-4 cupful of sugar
1-4 teaspoonful of salt
2 cupfuls of scalding milk
2 beaten egg yolks
1-4 teaspoonful of vanilla.
Blend the cornstarch, sugar and salt and add to the scalding milk. Cook in a double boiler 15 minutes, stirring occasionally to make smooth. Add the beaten egg yolks and cook 3 minutes then remove and add the vanilla. Ice the top and sides of cake with:
Burnt Sugar Icing
1-3 cupful of soft butter
2 cupfuls of powdered sugar
1 egg yolk in the above, unbeaten
4 tablespoonfuls of caramel syrup (burnt sugar syrup)
1-4 teaspoonful of vanilla
1 egg white beaten stiff.
Blend the above ingredients to the proper consistency to spread.

Gas Station IS TARGET FOR THEFT, FORGERY

N. Taft, proprietor of a service station at Croffman and Center avenues near Anaheim, figured twice in police news over the week and, having his station robbed Saturday night and having a man jailed for forgery of a gasoline bill on Sunday.

A 17-year-old Mexican youth living in Orange was booked at the county jail for investigation of forgery yesterday morning after he admitted to sheriff's officers that he forged a gasoline bill at Taft's station. According to Deputies James Musick and James Ragan, who made the arrest, the boy signed the name of John Chavez to a bill and had the account charged to a Mr. De Leon, brother-in-law of Chavez.

Saturday night, someone broke into the Taft station by using a file to force open a rear door, and stole $11 in a money bag, two checks, one for $13.60 and one for $3, and two cartons of cigars.

Soil erosion costs Oklahoma farmers $100,000,000 annually through reduction of crop yield and increased costs of producing crops on poor soil, according to estimates.

Edward A. Quill Called By Death

Edward A. Quill, 45, who has been ill since last March passed away at an Orange hospital this morning.
Mr. Quill was born in Virginia City, Nevada, and came to Santa Ana nine years ago and has maintained a ranch here since.
He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Bertha Quill, a daughter, Miss Evalena Quill of Santa Ana; a son, Edward Quill of Houston, Texas; two brothers and three sisters of Carson City, Nev., and one sister in Virginia City, Nev.

News Of Orange County Communities

NEW BUILDING IS ASSURED BY BOARD ACTION

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 12.—Another step leading toward realization of a large improvement project in the center of the business district was taken Saturday when the city council adopted a resolution of intention to vacate certain portions of the alley forming a continuation of Ocean avenue from Coast boulevard to the boardwalk on the ocean side. The portions to be vacated by the city, now used as public thoroughfare, will be turned over to the owners of adjoining holdings.

In return for this property, thus turned back to the private property owners, the latter will, in turn, deed certain portions of their holdings to the city, which arrangement will not only straighten out the property lines, but provide a straight thoroughfare of an even width of 22 feet.

The action of the city council, it was explained, will pave the way for the Consolidated Mortgage company of Los Angeles to proceed at once with its large improvement project in the business district, involving the erection of a large arcade store building on the site now occupied by the Hazo cafe and the Laguna diner, and the remodeling of the front of the bath house.

BUENA PARK AID PLANS LUNCHEON

BUENA PARK, Nov. 12.—With a committee including Mrs. J. F. Wagg, Mrs. Fred Law, Mrs. George Cole, Mrs. Irene Couts, Mrs. G. S. Davis and Mrs. C. E. Crumrine in charge, a public luncheon is to be served Friday noon in the Congregational church social hall sponsored by the Ladies Aid.

New officers of the aid organization elected at their last meeting are Mrs. Law, president; Mrs. Wagg, vice president; Mrs. R. W. Blase, secretary, and Mrs. W. B. Shaw, treasurer.

In addition to a reading of "The History of the First Thanksgiving" by Mrs. G. S. Davis, and a quartet number, "Count Your Many Blessings," by Mrs. Wagg, Mrs. Bastady, Mrs. H. H. Hagerty, and Mrs. Eleanor Jones, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Law, two plays were given by sixth grade children of the Grand Avenue grammar school under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Berkey.

In the cast of "The First Thanksgiving" were Norma Lou McDowell, "Remember," Gloria Shaw, "Priscilla," Helen Hart, "Mary," Lenore Duckworth, "Mistress Brewster," Donald Sutherland, "Elder Brewster," and Delbert Pressler, "Governor Bradford." With Delores Martin announcing members of the cast of "Make Believe Puritans" were Esther Perez, "Mother," Edna Leuthe, "Bessie," Mary Jean Hillman, "Josie," Audrey Martin, "Clara," and Virgil Isom, "Tom."

Church Group In All Day Session

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 12.—An all day meeting was held in the Methodist Episcopal church recently by members of the Home and Foreign Missionary societies. Mrs. A. A. Schmitzer, vice president of the Home Society, presided at the business meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. J. O. Arkley, who submitted to a major operation at Seaside hospital Wednesday.

Announcement was made that a thank offering will be taken at the morning service on November 18 when Mrs. Harry Chapman, of Santa Ana, will be the speaker. Members of the Foreign society pledged $300 for the coming year to be used in foreign missionary work.

After luncheon served by Mrs. Frank Rogers, Mrs. T. C. Natland and Mrs. James Hammon, a program was presented on Japan under the leadership of Mrs. E. P. Williams, who read chapters from the study book. Mrs. S. C. Oertly read an article on Japan and Mrs. Grover Ralston read some Japanese poetry.

OBSERVES BIRTHDAY

BUENA PARK, Nov. 12.—Miss Audrey Pearl Martin celebrated her birthday anniversary Friday evening with a party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Martin. After a time spent in playing games, party refreshments were served.

Others present were Delores and June Martin, Edna Luethe, Julia Gugliemone, Betty Jean Humbert, Laura Mabel Rittenhouse, Betty Bryant, Jean Lewis, and Dorothy Lee Baumstark.

WOMANLY WEAKNESS

Mrs. W. H. Benson, of 1091 Olive St., San Bernardino, Calif., said: "I was not able to do any of my housework. I would become so exhausted I would have to lie down. My nerves were bad and I felt that I would never be well again. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and was truly recomended it to any woman who is in broken-down health."

ASSOCIATION ACTS TO STOP PURSE SEINING ALONG COAST, LIGHTED YULE TREES PLAN

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 12.—Action having for its objective the elimination of purse seinning off the Orange county coastal waters by force of prohibitory legislation was taken Saturday night at the meeting of the South Coast Improvement association at Hotel Laguna when a special committee was authorized to confer and cooperate with similar committees of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county, the Orange County Coast association, and other civic organizations.

The need for vigorous organized action to put a stop to purse seinning followed a spirited address by Dr. C. G. Huston, of Costa Mesa, who called attention to the wasteful manner and the disastrous effects of this form of commercial fishing. Purse seinning, he declared, is not only depleting the fish supply for commercial fishermen engaged in legitimate operations but is now threatening to ruin completely the sport fishing off the Orange county coast. The speaker also brought out the significant point that a considerable portion of fish caught in this manner is not used for food but goes to the making of fertilizer. His remarks were echoed by several members who urged that prompt steps be taken to bring about relief.

Dr. Huston wanted it clearly understood that he is not opposed to commercial fishing as conducted by fishermen at Newport and Balboa, whose operations do not deplete the fish supply nor ruin the coastal waters for sports fishing. The charge of purse seinning, he emphasized, is laid directly at the door of some of the fishing concerns of San Pedro harbor, said to be backed by canning interests.

Captain George Portus, president, stated that as a result of purse seinning in the near waters off the shore sports fishing here has suffered considerably representing a heavy economic loss not only to the county as a whole but to individuals and concerns catering to the wants of sportsmen coming here to fish. He cited recent instances where purse seinners were dragging their nets almost in front of the fishing pier.

CITY COUNCIL MAY TURN DOWN $55,000 OFFER

SEAL BEACH, Nov. 12.—The FWA grant to Seal Beach and the Sunset Beach Sanitary district will meet with disfavor at the next meeting of the Seal Beach city council, it has been intimated by the members of the council. Decision had already been made by the council to abandon the joint sewage project and to make application for funds to construct a new disposal plant for the needs of the city of Seal Beach alone.

The objections are based on the belief that the proportion of cost that would have to be borne by the city would be out of proportion to the advantages derived. The joint system would cost the city of Seal Beach $55,000 aside from that which would have to be expended by the Sunset Beach Sanitary district. The city can build a new disposal plant to replace the old one, which is now in need of repair, at a cost of only $15,000, a plant that would be sufficient to care for a city of 8000 and so constructed that it could be enlarged at any time, it was stated.

It has been intimated that the city will use part of the funds to build the disposal plant for the city as planned at the last meeting of the city council and that the permission of the government will be sought to use the remainder for the construction of a municipally owned water system. In this way the city could provide itself with two needed facilities at a cost no greater than that of the joint sewage system. The steps begun at the last council meeting to get preliminary plans and estimates on the two projects will probably be carried out pending the official decision of the council on the matter.

Minstrel Show Attracts Crowd

MIDWAY CITY, Nov. 12.—The minstrel show given recently at the Midway City clubhouse drew a capacity house and the receipts from this as well as the first show given by the same group of men of the Westminster school district will go as a P-T. A. benefit, the purchase of glasses for children whose parents cannot afford to purchase them being the special purpose.

Eight of hand tricks by Clyde Day were included on the program. Members of the cast were surprised with a supper at the clubhouse after the show by the executive board of the Parent-Teacher association in appreciation of their efforts.

Those in the cast included Dr. Cecil D. Hardesty, Orion Bebermeyer, Billy Max Bebermeyer, Raymond Burns, John Day, Donald Melvin, Ronzo Hawley, J. H. Pryor, R. Hartley, Charles Benedict, Dr. Russell I. Johnson, Ed L. Hensley and Joe Loden.

4TH DISTRICT P-T. A. MEETS NEXT THURSDAY

TUSTIN, Nov. 12.—Dr. Walter Dexter, former president of Whittier college, will be the main speaker at the all day meeting of the Fourth District P-T. A. to be held Thursday at the Tustin Union High school cafeteria lounge, according to announcement made today by Mrs. D. D. Adams, publicity chairman. The Tustin High School and Grammar School P-T. A. will be hosts at the meeting.

Registration at 9:30 a. m. will be followed by a business session, which will include reports from the district chairmen. Mrs. B. C. Clark, first vice president of the P-T. A., will give a talk on "P-T. A. Objectives."

Luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock and the afternoon program will start at 1:30 p. m. There will be musical numbers and group singing arranged by district music chairman, Mrs. W. C. Bowen, of Fullerton. A short talk by F. L. Thurston, secretary of the California Teachers' association, will precede the address by Dr. Dexter.

PLAY GIVEN BY HARBOR STUDENTS

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 12.—An Armistice day program was given in the main auditorium of the Newport Harbor Union High school Friday, when the American Legion posts of Newport Beach and Costa Mesa met jointly with the high school student body. J. B. Tucker, of Santa Ana, the principal speaker, was introduced by Byron Marshall, of Balboa, Gilman Brookings, high school student of Newport Beach and county Boy Scout bugler, gave appropriate bugle calls.

"Americas" and other songs were sung by the audience under the direction of Miss Marie Hiebbeck, musical director of the school. Miss Edna Walker presided at the piano.

Members of the school drama class, the Misses Dorothy Engdahl, Eleanor Brooks and Gail George and Jack Smith, Billy Bushard and Warren Kennedy, presented a play, "The Knife." Miss Dorothy Tuiley, the school drama and arts teacher, directed.

A large crowd of school patrons attended. George Tampis is commander of the Newport Beach Legion post and Glen Cramer is commander of the Costa Mesa unit. Judson Sutherland, student body president, was in charge.

HOBBY DISPLAY OBSERVES BOOK WEEK IN BREA

BREA, Nov. 12.—National Book week, November 11 to 17, is being observed in the Brea branch library with a display of children's hobbies. The display consists of model boats, airplanes, collections of stamps, stones and butterflies, Miss Kathryn Burke, librarian, announces, and other hobbies may be added.

About 85 new books for children have just been received by the Brea branch. They include folk stories, adventures, travel, bird and animal life and simple treatises in the useful arts. Colorful posters call attention to the new book display.

Within the next few days Miss Burke expects to have a rental shelf where the latest in fiction and non-fiction books may be had for a small sum.

PARTY HELD FOR MISSION WORKER

TUSTIN, Nov. 12.—In compliance to her sister, Miss Grace Rowley, who is on furlough here from missionary work in China, Mrs. J. W. Sauters was hostess to two groups of the Woman's Missionary society of the Tustin Presbyterian church at a pleasant affair held recently at the Sauters home on Yorba street. The 23 guests were members of groups led by Madama George Hatfield, Earl Marshall, E. C. Dietrich and Chester A. Day.

The honor guest has been serving as a missionary in China for the past eight years and received her furlough last June at which time she started for home. Since then, she has made a tour which included visits in India, Palestine and European countries. During the afternoon's program, Miss Rowley related some of her experiences abroad and guests inspected pictures and articles which she had secured in her travels. Mrs. C. E. Smith and Miss Marjorie Rawlings sang solos and also a vocal duet together.

Refreshments of sandwiches, ice cream, cake and tea were served on individual trays, with appointments carrying out the autumn theme.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY EASTERN STAR

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 12.—Election of officers featured the meeting of Garden Grove chapter, O. E. S., held in K. of P. hall, in Anaheim, recently, with the following elected: Mrs. Ethel Schauer, worthy patron; E. O. Fulson, worthy patron; Alice T. Smith, associate patron; C. J. Clark, associate patron; Mrs. Allet Keele, conductress; Mrs. Clara Bryan, associate conductress; Mrs. Lucille Walker, secretary; Mrs. Marcia Carmichael, treasurer.

Installation will be held jointly with Chispa chapter of Anaheim on December 11 at the Masinoc temple in Anaheim. Reports of grand chapter, held in San Francisco, were given by Mrs. Emma Kearns, worthy patron, and Mrs. Estel Schauer, associate patron.

Mrs. Emma Henry, on behalf of the Monday Afternoon Star club, presented Dr. Donald R. E. Waters, worthy patron, with a robe bearing the names of 41 members em-broidered on wool patches. The gift had been put together by Mrs. Dorothy Thornbury and during the presentation an original poem was read by Mrs. Dorothy Jentges.

Club Affair Set For December 14

MIDWAY CITY, No. 12.—Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson was hostess at her home at 211 Van Buren street last week to members of the Needle Crafters' club. Refreshments of tea and cake and jello were served by Mrs. Johnson.

A combined meeting of the Needle Crafters' club and the Sweet Sixteen Bridge club was announced for December 14, when Mrs. George Luff will be the hostess and the two groups will hold a Christmas party with inexpensive gifts exchanged. There will be a pot-luck luncheon and social afternoon.

The next meeting of the Sweet Sixteen club will be held with Mrs. Johnson November 21.

The following were present: Mrs. James Dale, Mrs. Braybrook, Mrs. William Frazier, Mrs. George Luff, Mrs. Bart Heath, Mrs. Byron Taves, Mrs. Gerald Gill, Mrs. Mickey Borgeson, Mrs. John Stone and Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson.

BREA MINISTER SAYS PEACE RESPONSIBILITY OF CHURCH; LOVE, TRUTH WAR CASUALTIES

BREA, Nov. 12.—"Can We Have Peace?" was the topic of the sermon preached at the Congregational church Sunday morning by the Rev. Donald F. Gaylord, taking for his text, Jeremiah 30:5, "For this saith the Lord; 'We have heard a voice of trembling, of fear, and not of peace.'"

"Tomorrow," the Rev. Mr. Gaylord said, "we observe Armistice day—a peace holiday—and yet we seem to keep the fact concealed underneath a pageantry that often carries with it more of a gesture of celebrating a victory than of a dedication to peace."

"Peace is the object and the responsibility of the Christian church. How can we as Christian people tolerate the possibility of another war? But what can we plain simple folk do about it? We can do this. Disarmament, taking the profits out of war, courts of arbitration, peace plans of various kinds have all been offered as the solution and all may be good but back of these and most forceful of all is the attitude of the people about war."

"We need persistently to keep in mind good will, forgiveness, sympathy and understanding love. These are the things which Jesus suggested for the making and the keeping of peace but instead we find fear and trembling and hate. The very fact that we seem to need preparedness proves that we distrust or fear other nations. Jesus said 'Love thy neighbor as thyself.' This applies to our neighbor nations as well as to the neighbor next door."

"Love and truth are the casualties of war, indeed, they are of

POPPY GARDEN IS DEDICATED AT CAPISTRANO

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Nov. 12.—As the nation paused yesterday morning in memory of the war dead, a miniature "Flanders field" was blessed and dedicated in the mission grounds here, as a memorial of the World War. The new garden, planted in the Indian cemetery, is a six-foot plot lined with white stones and planted in poppy seeds brought from the original Flanders field by the late Mrs. Martha Nelson McCann.

The seeds were scattered in the plot by Dr. Dorothy C. Smiley, vice president of the Brentwood Garden club, as the garden was blessed by Father Arthur J. Hutchinson. A color brigade from the Capistrano post of the American Legion stood at attention as the flags were raised for a moment in memory. A flying squad from the Santa Ana police department acted as guard of honor during the services.

The Rev. Martin C. Keating of the Holy Trinity Catholic church of Burbank gave a short address following the ceremonies, paying tribute to the war heroes of all nations and the principles for which they fought. The seed was donated by Mrs. Blanche Dungan.

GARDEN TALK ARRANGED FOR CLUB MEETING

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 12.—Interesting sidelights on community beautification, explaining how neighbors may co-operate in enhancing the attractiveness of their own residence districts, will feature an address to be given by Miss Dorothy Inez Stanford, of Ontario, state chairman on gardens, California Federation of Women's club, at the Friday's meeting of the Woman's club of Laguna Beach, according to a program announcement released by Mrs. Vonna Owings Webb, president of the club. Another speaker on the program will be Mrs. Gene Douglas, who will give a book review.

Because of the fact that the principal address will be devoted to neighborhood beautification, the subject being "Your Yard and Mine," a general invitation has been extended to the members of the Laguna Beach Garden club to attend the meeting.

Townsend Clubs To Meet Tuesday

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 12.—A joint meeting of the Townsend clubs in Garden Grove will be held Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the high school auditorium. J. T. Nicholas, state divisional manager, will be present from Santa Ana. The Rev. Elmer Lyon pastor of the First Baptist church and other speakers will be on the program. Everyone is cordially urged to attend.

The festival will open at 5 p. m. Thursday in the church. Both arrangements are in charge of Mrs. W. J. Frank, who has stated that donations for any of the departments of the fair will be welcomed.

Miss Helen Porter is in charge of decorations; Mrs. E. E. Humphrey, publicity; Mrs. Robert Burns, horticulture booth; Mrs. Charles French, handicraft booth; Mrs. Ruth Richardson, fruits, nuts, jellies and jams display; Miss Sophie Burdick, cooked foods; Mrs. S. W. Douglas, Mrs. W. W. Windle, "white elephant" booth; Guy Campbell, animal exhibit booth. The choir and the leagues of the church are in charge of the food concessions booth and the Bible class of the exhibit of relics and quilts.

Supper will be served at the fair both evenings. The public is invited. Those who have donations to offer may call 731-W, 929-W or 1045-W.

SHOW PRESENTED BY HI-Y MEMBERS

FULLERTON, Nov. 12.—Members of the Fullerton Hi-Y club Saturday night sponsored a show at the old auditorium of the Fullerton Union High school for the younger boys in Y. M. C. A. work and for the public at large. George Crilly was general chairman of the affair. More than 300 attended.

The entertainment included some interesting and authentic government pictures of the World War. Prior to their showing, Dr. William Wickert, chairman of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A., led in community singing; Mrs. Wickert was at the piano.

Kenneth Wheeler, an animal trainer, with Art Coltrin and Wes Kewish made up as "Elsie," a trained horse, presented a performance, and Arch Raitt, secretary of the Northern Orange county Y. M. C. A., gave a short talk. Dr. Wickert explained many phases of the pictures as they were being shown.

CHURCH MEMBERS ARRANGE SESSIONS

FULLERTON, Nov. 12.—Several important and entertaining meetings are scheduled for members and friends of Fullerton Presbyterian church during the coming few weeks.

The first event opens tomorrow, when the Women's forum will be conducted at the church. Women of the Missionary society are planning to present a thank offering play at the church Thursday at 7:30 p. m. Preceding the play, at 6:55 o'clock, the session and church school teachers will meet in a business meeting.

Dr. Henry Kendall Booth, of Long Beach, will talk to men of the church at a dinner affair November 20. The Men's Bible class is sponsoring the meeting.

3 SOUP KITCHENS GET SERA BACKING

FULLERTON, Nov. 12.—The Fullerton Parent-Teacher association council this year is sponsoring the three soup kitchen projects as one unit from the administrative standpoint. Mrs. Claude H. Russell is president of the council.

During the past two years, soup kitchens have been sponsored by three groups, Maple, Ford and Wilshire Parent-Teacher associations, the Wilshire opening the first kitchen.

The combined group will serve at their individual kitchens and the council has arranged for the work to be done under an SERA project, employing eight women 20 hours a week each.

One woman will contact and purchase food in the co-operative effort, while others will put time at preparation of food.

The groups are starting their year with a donation of $178, given by the 20-30 club. This money was raised last spring at donkey baseball games.

The children will not be permitted to pay for the soup. Donations for ingredients, however, are to be received.

LAST RITES HELD FOR LEVI DURLER

ORANGE, Nov. 12.—Last rites for Levi A. Durler, 75, who passed away November 7 following a short illness, were held Saturday afternoon from the First Presbyterian church. The final services were conducted by Dr. Robert Burns McAulay, pastor of the local First Presbyterian church assisted by the Rev. Marcus L. Pearson, pastor emeritus of the church.

"When the Golden Bells are Ringing" was sung as a request of Mr. Durler by members of the Men's Bible class of Orange of which he was president for many years. Mrs. Carl Pister and Mrs. Paul Clark, accompanied at the organ by Percy Green, who played before and after the services, sang "The Unclouded Day."

Pallbearers were John Brownlee, W. W. Perry, W. N. Stowell, A. W. Barnes, Charles E. Dutton and George Ryan.

Mr. Durler is survived by his widow, Mrs. Alice Durler, two daughters, Mrs. E. G. Stinson and Mrs. John Stinson, and two sons, Ralph of Riverside, and Ogden, of the U. S. navy.

Arrangements for the funeral were in charge of the C. W. Coffey Funeral home. Interment was made in Fairhaven cemetery.

Mrs. E. R. Bryne Party Honoree

TUSTIN, Nov. 12.—Complimenting Mrs. Ernest R. Bryne, who returned recently from an extended eastern trip was a merry party given by Mrs. E. F. Hibbet and Mrs. John W. Sauer at the Sauer home on Yorba street.

Mrs. Bryne's trip took her to New Orleans by motor and from there to New York City by steamship. In New York, she enjoyed a visit with her sister and enroute home, she visited her mother.

Progressive "Michigan" and "Pit" were the diversions of the evening. In the latter contest, prizes for high and low scores were awarded to Mrs. George Gaylord and Raymond West.

As a climax to the evening's entertainment, the guests assisted the hostesses in the preparation of the refreshments, which consisted of a two-course supper served at small tables.

Those present, other than Mr. and Mrs. Bryne, were Messrs. William Fisher, George Gaylord, Robert C. Korff, Frank H. Greenwood, A. F. Hibbet and John W. Sauer.

COUPLE'S 66TH WEDDING EVENT IS CELEBRATED

ORANGE, Nov. 12.—In observance of the 66th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Yost, 265 South Center street, were presented with a bouquet of beautiful flowers at the morning service at the First Methodist church Sunday.

Mr. Yost is 86 years old and Mrs. Yost is 84. They were married in Marshalltown, Ohio, and have known each other since the former was four years of age and the latter but two. Both are from early Pennsylvania families. Both families traveled from that state to Ohio via the covered wagon route.

Coming to California from Marshalltown, where they lived until 1905, Mr. and Mrs. Yost lived in Long Beach for some years, later moving to Orange. They have expectations of celebrating their 75th wedding anniversary. They are the parents of six children.

Mr. Yost has voted for 16 Republican presidents beginning with U. S. Grant, for whom he cast his first vote a year after his marriage. He has never taken a drink of intoxicating liquor and does not use tobacco. Mrs. Yost is never seen without the white ribbon of the W.C.T.U. of which she is an interested member.

SOCIAL HELD BY METHODIST CLASS

ORANGE, Nov. 12.—Meeting at the home of Miss Lulu Kenyon, North Orange street, Friday night, members of the Fidelity class of the First Methodist church enjoyed an evening of games following a business session in charge of Miss Lulu Thornburg, president.

EVOLUTION TALK SET FOR TONIGHT

ORANGE, Nov. 12.—Evangelist R. R. Spear, who is conducting a series of lectures at the Woman's clubhouse, spoke Sunday night on "Paul's Midnight Meeting Over Which Millions Stumble." A stringed trio from the Loma Linda Symphony orchestra furnished several numbers.

Evangelist Spear speaks tonight on the subject "Evolution—X-Ray-ed." He will answer four important questions. Special music will be provided.

The speaker said, in part: "Upon the first day of the week when the disciples came together to break bread, Paul preached unto them, ready to depart on the morrow, and continued his speech until midnight." It further states that "there were many lights in the upper chamber." Because of the night long sermon a sleepy boy fell three stories from a window, and was taken up dead. Paul through faith restored him. "When he therefore was come up again, and had broken bread, and eaten, and talked a long while, even till break of day, so he departed."

"To properly understand this we must realize that the natural day of the Bible is from sunset to sunset. At creation the days began with darkness or evening. Thus the original days were composed of evening and morning, or darkness and light. Gen. 1:1-5, 8, 13, etc.) The original order of night and day has never been broken or lost. If it had been Jesus would have corrected it when on earth, but instead he kept the same identical Sabbath the Jews had been keeping for centuries proving them correct in their reckoning of the days."

HOLD LAST RITES FOR EARL C. JACOB

ORANGE, Nov. 12.—Funeral services for Earl Crawford Jacob, 22, who passed away early Thursday morning in Los Angeles following a prolonged illness, were held Saturday from the Gilgoly Funeral home, with Dr. Robert Burns McAulay, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating.

Two request organ numbers, "Trees," and "The Old Rugged Cross," were played by Mrs. Florence Gilgoly Donegan, who also played before and after the services.

Pallbearers were cousins of the deceased, Raymond Brown, Clifford Brown, Calvin Crawford, Roscoe Morgan, Eugene Morgan and Bruce Crawford.

Mr. Jacob is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jacob, of Lancaster; one sister and one brother, Miss Rachel Jacob and Keith Jacob, also of Lancaster; grandmother Mrs. Anna J. Crawford; aunt, Mrs. H. A. Brown, and uncle, Earl Crawford, all of Orange. Interment was made in Fairhaven cemetery.

MISS MUELLER BECOMES BRIDE OF F. GARNSEY

ORANGE, Nov. 12.—Choosing the Immanuel Lutheran church as the setting for her wedding, Miss Theodora Mueller, daughter of Mrs. Louise Mueller, South Olive street, was married yesterday afternoon to Felix R. Garnsey of Fallbrook, son of L. J. Garnsey of Pasadena, the Rev. Kenneth L. Ahl, assistant pastor of the St. John's Lutheran church, reading the impressive service.

The church was beautifully decorated with palms, tall white candles in candelabra and torches furnishing the light for the ceremony. The bride was lovely in a Schiaparelli blue afternoon frock with black velvet accessories and she wore a corsage of white gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Miss Adelaide Mueller, sister of the bride was maid of honor and she was frocked in black crepe with a silver metal trimming. Her corsage was of American Beauty roses. Oliver Staude attended the bridegroom as best man.

Following the ceremony close relatives and friends who attended the wedding were guests at a reception and supper in the home of the bride's mother.

For the home were carried out in bronze and gold fall blooms and the table appointments were in white. The table was centered with a square three-tiered wedding cake, while silver candelabra on each side held white candles. The only note of color was supplied by molded salads in yellow.

Mrs. Mueller wore blue crepe and a corsage of Tailsman roses. After the ceremony the young people left for the north where they will spend a brief honeymoon before going to Fallbrook where the bridegroom has a mountain vineyard.

The romance which culminated in yesterday's wedding began at the Santa Ana Junior college. The bride is a graduate of the Orange union high school and later attended the University of Southern California. She has been a teacher in the Burbank city schools for the past three years and during her school and collegiate career won high scholastic honors.

The bridegroom attended the school of commerce of the University of Southern California.

METHODISTS TO HOLD SPECIAL SERVICE SOON

ORANGE, Nov. 12.—Observing the 150th anniversary of the administering of holy communion by the Rev. Richard Wheatcoat, the first such service in America by a Methodist pastor, the Orange Methodist church will hold special services Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock. All members of the church have been extended an invitation to be present.

An interesting fact in connection with the observance at the Orange church is that Barrett's chapel, where this first communion service was held at Dover, Del., was built by an ancestor of the Orange pastor, Dr. J. E. Dunning.

Recognition at the service also will be paid Dr. Thomas Coke, who accompanied the Rev. Mr. Wheatcoat to America from England, in company with the Rev. Thomas Vasey, the three men being instrumental in organizing the first Methodist church of America shortly afterwards. The history of the Orange Methodist church is to be related in full as nearly as possible at another meeting to be held in December in commemoration of the founding of the American church.

DINNERS ARRANGED BY CHURCH GROUPS

ORANGE, Nov. 12.—Members and friends of the First Christian church living northwest of the church will entertain those living southwest of the church at a covered dish dinner to be held in the lower auditorium Tuesday night at 6:30 o'clock. The event is one of a series of "friendly heart" meetings.

On the following night at the same hour and place members and friends of the church living northeast of the church will entertain those living southeast of the church.

By HARRY GRAYSON

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Crain Portman, pinch-hitter of the Illinois team, is the football man of the hour—making good the hard way, despite injuries and lack of weight, while working his way through school.

It is refreshing to chat with youngsters like Portman, who quickly would convince the most assured skeptic that all the better athletes are not rushed into college and given phony jobs such as getting the mail.

Portman saved $150 working on an ice company last summer, money derived from cleaning a site of offices each evening before he paid his board bill. The 155-pound star acts as a guard at a snail's pace in the winter. He and Howard Carson, a teammate, shares chores about the home at which they live.

A fractured ankle kept Portman out of football in his sophomore year, and he broke his leg in his back yard the day before practice started last season.

With the latter injury, friends who feared that he would be hurt in football and besought him to devote his activities to track, were certain that he never was cut out for the wearing gridiron game, and again urged that he lay the game aside for his own good.

But ten days after the cast was removed the diminutive Portman played half the game against Michigan.

PORTMAN IGNITES ILLINI

Bob Zupke noticed how Portman speeded up the backfield, always driving forward when he carried the piskin. The veteran center kept slipping the peewee into the lineup. Portman snaggled passes that beat Chicago. He hit big men harder than some of his larger teammates, and wasn't afraid to tackle high-manned ball toters.

Army feared Portman this season as much as Jack Beynon or Les Lindberg, for things begin to pop when the Urbana lad ankles out on the field.

Portman's runs paved the way for the one Illinois touchdown required to defeat Michigan. Crain made seven more in one thrust after bluffing a lateral to Beynon and cutting in outside the Blue and Gold's left end, reversing his field, and putting the Wolverines in a hole with a 27-yard sprint to the 14-yard stripe.

Zupke has been exceptionally successful with the smaller players, both in the backfield and line. Perhaps it is because the little Dutchman leans to intricate plays, requiring expert ball handling behind agile forwards.

Zup protects his little men, too. Portman, for example, is kept out of much of the squad's scrimmage.

"A small fellow can't stand the practice grind like the big fellows," reasons Zupke. "He's meeting bigger men all the time."

POGUE ORIGINAL GHOST
Illinois' championship backfield of 1927 was composed of rabbits—Blair French, 144; Frank Walker, 144; Judd Timm, and Doug Mills, who scaled in the 150's; and Fred Humbert, who plunged like a hell diver, although he packed no more than 166 pounds up to the line of scrimmage.

And who among those who saw him ever will forget Hal Pogue, the Illinois' original Galloping Ghost, and undoubtedly the toughest to bring down until Red Harold Grange streaked through the autumn air ten years later.

The slight and frail Pogue looked like a divinity student in his horn-rimmed glasses. The coach waved him aside when he turned out for freshman football, Zupke yanking him out of class games in his first year as coach.

Pogue's sight was none too good, and when he daubed his cheekbones on sunny afternoons, he really was a hollow-eyed ghost, and just as elusive.

Pogue was an integral part of what generally is conceded to have been the Champaign institution's finest backfield, hoofing it along with Bart Macomber, Potey Clark, and Gene Schobinger.

This combination compiled huge scores in completing an unbeaten season against the most formidable kind of opposition in 1914, and, with Schobinger graduated, kept the team's record unblemished the following season.

It is little wonder that Zupke never dismisses an ambitious welterweight, but says:

"You're pretty small, young man, but it isn't size that counts."

WEEK TO SEE BANNER TOTAL OF 255 FOOTBALL TUSSLES

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(UP)—Heated stretch fights in races for regional and conference championships feature this week's football program on which intercollegiate hostilities reach the season's lowest ebb.

A banner total of 255 games is spread over three days of play this week: 15 Armistice encounters today, 47 contests Friday, and 193 Saturday.

Two of the most significant clashes are slated in the east Saturday. Vic Hanson's unbeaten and untied Syracuse eleven, fresh from shattering Michigan State's perfect record, will collide with Andy Kerr's Colgate Magicians, who last week knocked Tulane out of the championship parade. This game is additionally attractive because of its traditional background of northern New York rivalry.

In the other two eastern games, unbeaten and untied Navy will receive the stiffest test of the year when it tries to repel the formidable Pittsburgh Panthers at Annapolis. Last week the middles downed Notre Dame at Cleveland.

The Syracuse game is particularly interesting because the big Orange team and Temple now have a trip to the Rose Bowl, in which Stanford appears almost certain to the western defender through its smashing victory over heretofore undefeated and untied Washington.

The rest of this week's hostilities may be outlined as follows: East—Another contender for the eastern title, Princeton, risks its perfect record in a big three classic with Yale. Unbeaten Tufts, which finally was scored upon last week, meets Bowdoin. In intercollegiate engagements, Purdue invades Fordham; Army entertains Citadel, and today Centre invades Boston college. Both these latter teams play again Saturday. Boston College meeting Boston U., and Centre, Georgetown. Other eastern pairings are Columbia-Pennsylvania, Harvard-New Hampshire, Cornell-Dartmouth, Duquesne-Carnegie Tech., West Virginia-George Washington, and Brown-Holy Cross.

Midwest—In the Big Ten conference, where Minnesota, Purdue and Illinois are deadlocked for the lead, Minnesota tackles Chicago, and Illinois meets Wisconsin, upset victor over Washington. A third conference engagement pits Ohio State and Michigan. Maryland invades Indiana for an intercollegiate game. Additional pairings are Iowa State-Drake, Michigan State-Detroit, Missouri-Washington U., and Notre Dame-Northwestern. In the Big Six, Nebraska and Kansas State, tied for the lead, play Kansas and Oklahoma, respectively.

South—Five southeastern conference games are featured by the Alabama-Georgia Tech., and Louisiana State-Mississippi engagements. Alabama and Louisiana State are two of the conference leaders.

Pacific Coast—The two conference leaders, Stanford and Washington State, do not see conference action. Stanford tangles with the San Francisco Olympic club, and Washington State has an open date. Three conference games pair California-Idaho, Oregon State-Montana, and Southern California-Oregon. Outside, Washington plays Puget Sound.

DONS LEAD IN J. C. FOOTBALL

STANFORD SURE TO PLAY ROSE BOWL CLASSIC

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—(UP)—After last Saturday about the only important football matter that remains to be decided is Stanford's opponent in the 1935 Rose Bowl game.

For the business of picking an eastern or southern eleven to meet the Pacific coast's representatives in the Pasadena contest began in earnest right after the Stanford crushed University of Washington, 24-0, in a manner so convincing and so thorough that it stamped the Cardinals as one of the really great eleven of all time.

Technically Washington State can share the conference title with the Cards by defeating the same Washington team that Stanford humbled. And California can throw a monkey wrench into the works by turning aside Stanford in what would be just about the greatest upset of all time or very close to the greatest anyway.

We'll have to wait for November 25 for both answers but football men think they know the answers now, so they're talking about Alabama, Louisiana State, Syracuse, or Colgate as possible opponents for the team Tiny Thornhill coaches.

Saturday was a bad day for teams who carried into battle a record of long supremacy over their rivals. Stanford hadn't beaten Washington since 1920. And California had been without a victory since 1928 over U. S. C. until an inspired Golden Bear drove home a 7-2 victory over the Trojans last week end at Los Angeles.

University of Oregon kept its dominance over Oregon State alive by a 9-6 win. Oregon meets U. S. C. Saturday while the Staters play Montana. The Oregon teams should win both games.

Washington State kept its conference record clear of defeats and only points scored against it by subduing Idaho. California's next opponent, 19-0.

Stanford's next opponent, the Olympic club, played good defensive football in its battle with U. S. F. Sunday but lost to the Dons, 6-0. U. S. F. sees action again Sunday, playing Loyola at Los Angeles.

The top game on next week-end's schedule will be the St. Mary's-Santa Clara clash at San Francisco. Tickets already are at a premium for what this year should be the greatest of all "lit-tle big games." St. Mary's is playing U. C. L. A. today at Los Angeles while Santa Clara has been resting for the head-on collision with the Morgans. Another Armistice day game today pits Fresno State against Cal Aggies.

Other week end results include: Montana 27, Montana State 0; Loyola 19, San Diego State 3; Cal Frosh 23, Stanford Frosh 0; Whit-tier 50, Pomona 6; Sacramento J. C. 20, San Mateo J. C. 2; Pacific University 7, College of Puget Sound 7; Southern Oregon Normal 6, Chico State 0; Cheney Normal 12, Bellingham 7.

YOUTHFUL TACKLER DIES OF INJURIES

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 12.—(UP)—Charles Lemon, 16, member of the Phoenix Union High school football team, died today in a local hospital of a broken neck received when he tackled an El Paso player in the annual game between the Phoenix school and the El Paso high school.

The youth was injured when he crashed headlong into Ed Bunner, El Paso halfback, in the second quarter of the game. Surgeons worked on the boy four hours Saturday night in an effort to save his life.

It was the first football fatality in El Paso since the game has been played here.

SIXTEEN FOOTBALL TEAMS UNDEFEATED

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(UP)—Sixteen college football teams throughout the nation remained on the unbeaten and untied list today while six suffered setbacks over the week end.

Michigan State, Tulane, Washington and Xavier were beaten, and Ohio Northern and Utah State were held to ties.

The list of unbeaten and untied: Minnesota, Alabama, Princeton, Navy, Syracuse, Illinois, Tufts, Trinity (R. I.), De Pauw, Kirksville, Cape Girardeau, Birmingham Southern, Augustana (Ill.), Upper Iowa, Bluefield College, and St. Vincent.

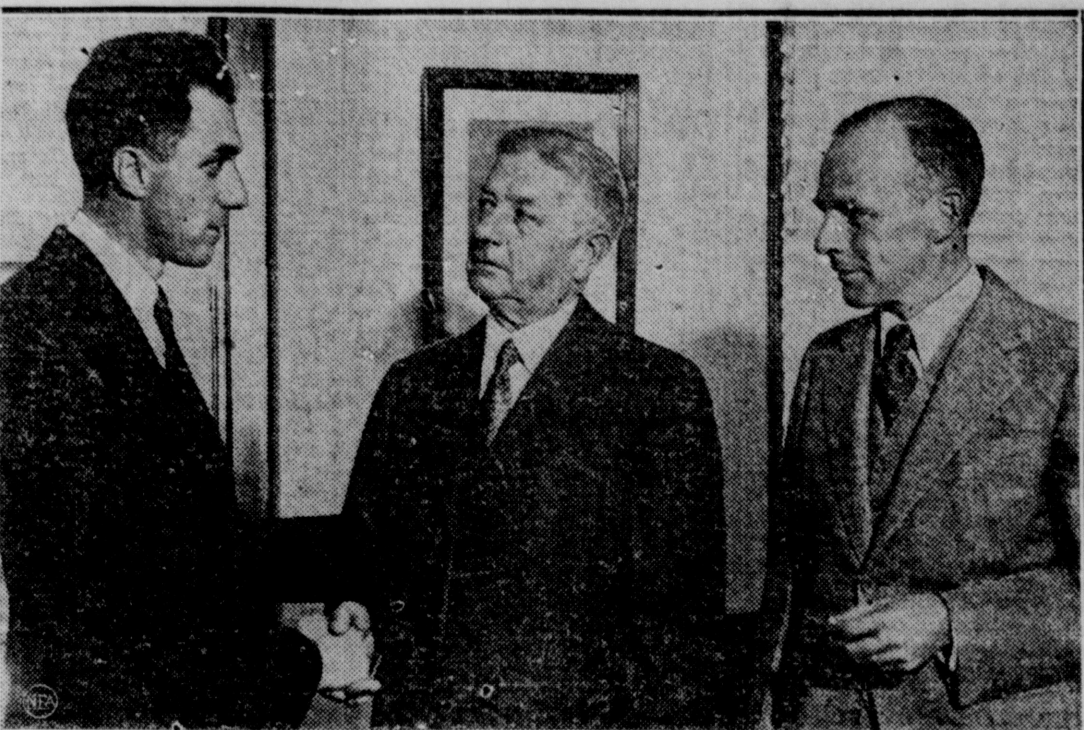

Indios Polo Team Beats Uplifters

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12.—(UP)—Aldan Roark and Hal Roach each turned in five goals as the Los Indios polo team walloped the Uplifters 15 to 7, before 4000 fans at the Uplifters field yesterday.

Lionel Pedley and Ray Bell paced the Ramblers to a 9-5 victory over the Greyhounds at Riviera.

UNBEATEN LONG BEACH IN GAME HERE SATURDAY

Encouraged by their 12-0 upset over Fullerton in a non-conference fray, Santa Ana High school's improved Saints will turn on the heat this week in an effort to surprise Long Beach Poly in their Coast league season's toughest assignment at Poly field Saturday afternoon.

Heavily favored to win the 1934 championship, the Jackrabbits are the only unbeaten club in the six-team league. Long Beach scored a 13-6 win over the San Diego eleven that defeated Santa Ana 26-7, and will rule at least a two-touchdown favorite over the Saints.

Santa Ana terminates the Coast league season against Pasadena here a week from Saturday in a game the Saints will stand at even chance to win. It is probable Coach Bill Foote's Santa Anans will finish with two victories and three defeats for a percentage of .400.

RUTH STILL HITS HOMERS FOR JAPS

TOKYO, Nov. 12.—(UP)—Fat and 40 he may be, and retired from the ranks of the regular players, but Babe Ruth still can drive out those home runs.

The big fellow delighted some 60,000 Japanese fans yesterday by smashing out two homers in an exhibition game between two teams of the barnstorming squad of United States major league baseball players. Ruth, leading the "Ayes" team, hit homers in the first and seventh innings, as his outfit won from the "Bees," 11 to 2.

Jimmy Fox of the Athletics, and Earl Averill of the Indians, both playing on Ruth's team, also hit homers. Six Americans, assisted by three Japanese, played on each team.

Maroons Defeat Cubs By 17 to 14

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12.—(UP)—Ernie Smith's field goal provided the Southern California maroons the necessary margin for a 17-14 triumph over the Westwood Cubs in a Pacific Coast football league game here yesterday.

Army Jaysee May Play In Bowl Friday

San Diego Army and Navy military academy probably will be Santa Ana Jaysee's non-conference opponent in a night game at the Municipal Bowl Friday, but arrangements had not been completed today.

Coach Bill Cook is considering five other opponents—Whittier college freshmen or varsity reserves, Black-Peak, Urban and Phoenix, Arizona Jaysee—but is favoring the San Diego contest.

San Diego already has played three Eastern Jaysee conference opponents this season, and would jump at a chance to oppose the champion Dons, it is believed.

The Army and Navy eleven scored a 19-0 victory over Fullerton in September, but lost to Chaffey and Citrus by respective 19-6 and 19-7 scores in October.

There is a possibility that Santa Ana's final league game with Fullerton will be changed from Nov. 23 to Thanksgiving day, Nov. 29.

TENNIS

Continuing previous successes in the Southern California Inter-collegiate tennis competition, Santa Ana's tennis players took the measure of their opponents in both "A" and "B" divisions.

"A" team defeated Fullerton seven matches to four. The highlight of the matches was a sizzling affair when Marjorie Lauderback defeated Katherine Wood of Fullerton 7-9, 6-4 and 6-4. The "A" squad of Santa Ana will play Pomona next Saturday at Pomona in the final match for the championship of the Citrus Belt league.

Following the example set by the "As" the "B" team found victory in a seven to four match score against the Olympic Tennis club of Los Angeles.

FULLERTON WIN FORCES CITRUS TO THIRD SPOT

FULLERTON, Nov. 12.—In one of the most sensational upsets of the Eastern conference football season, Coach Art Nunn's Fullerton Hornets swept to a 14-0 victory over Coach Al Clayes' Citrus Owls here Saturday. It was the first defeat for Citrus and sent the Azusa eleven from first to third place in league standings.

Led by a snake-hipped, left-footed punter, Burt Kidd, Fullerton took advantage of all the breaks to outplay its highly touted opponent. Kidd's punting was inspirational, several of his kicks sailing more than 70 yards.

Through a partially blocked punt that Orrville Burns, fullback, carried to the invader's 25-yard line, Fullerton marched to a touchdown in the second quarter. Three plays produced the tally. Norman Boiseran, quarterback, shot an aerial to Art Fox for an 18-yard gain. A Citrus penalty placed the ball on the 1-yard mark, from where Boiseran scored on a line buck. Vic Sutherland, giant guard, booted the extra point. Kidd scored Fullerton's other touchdown in the second half.

The Hornets are pointing toward their traditional "big game" with Santa Ana's Dons here a week from Friday night. They play at San Bernardino this week.

ROBERTS NEARER RACE TRACK TITLE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12.—(UP)—Floyd Roberts, whose recent sensational winning streak has eclipsed the usual driving brilliancy of Rex Mays, was a step nearer the Pacific Coast Automobile racing title today after scoring another major track triumph at Ascot speedway.

Before 5000 fans, Roberts drove to victory in the 111-lap feature race yesterday in 46:50.21. Gerry Connors breezed in second, Kelly Pettile third, Harris Insinger fourth and Mays fifth.

ROSS IS OFFERED $20,000 TO FIGHT

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 12.—(UP)—Sam Plan and Art Winch, co-managers of Barney Ross, lightweight boxing champion of the world, today had under advisement an offer of $20,000 for a match in Dallas for Ross against either Lew Massey or Tracy Cox.

Massey and Cox meet here Wednesday night.

The offer reportedly was made by the Madison Square Garden corporation through Matchmaker Dickie Griffin.

Santa Anita And Eastside Tie, 3-3

Santa Anitans and the Eastside All-Star nine battled 13 innings to a 3-3 tie yesterday afternoon in a game marked by fast fielding and tight pitching.

The All-Stars scored two runs in the fifth inning when Walls was hit by a pitched ball. Wilcut walked and Diamond crashed out a long triple, scoring both. The All-Stars got another run in the sixth frame. E. Kelly was safe on an error by J. Koral. Dunningan sacrificed him to second, from where he scored on W. Kelly's single.

Santa Anita scored three runs in the eighth inning. Llanes and Lito walked, and both advanced on a passed ball. B. Koral's fly to left scored Llanes, Ibarra singling to score Lito and scoring on two successive rollers to second base.

Ruth To Be Manager Of Brave Team?

Boston, Nov. 12.—(UP)—Babe Ruth, who broke into baseball as a pitcher with the Red Sox, may return to Boston as manager of the Braves.

Belief that Ruth will succeed Bill McKechnie spread today following Col. Jacob Ruppert's reported statement at French Lick Springs, Ind., last night that his aging Yankee star expects to manage a National league club in 1935.

Added to this was a report that Judge Emil Fuchs, president of the Braves, admitted at the National league meeting in New York last week that he would like to have Ruth managing his club, but would not think of removing McKechnie, with whom he is understood to have a verbal five-year contract.

Fuchs, who returned to Boston yesterday, insisted that he hadn't talked with either Ruth or Ruppert, but admitted that "mutual friends" had suggested bringing Ruth to Boston.

HOLMES UPSET BY EWERT IN GOLF TOURNEY

Ed Holmes Jr., champion Santa Ana Country club golfer, today was eliminated from the 1934 championship flight as a result of his defeat by Dick Ewert in the first round. Holmes was on the trail of his seventh club championship, having won six of the past seven years matches. Ewert won the match this year two up.

The match between Holmes and Ewert proved to be close as was expected. They were even at the end of the third hole. Ewert had Holmes one down on the fourth, two down on the fifth when Holmes won the sixth. Ewert took the seventh to be two up when Holmes shot a birdie three on eight. Both shot sixes, one over par, on the ninth, with the nine holes ending with Ewert one up. Ewert shot a birdie three on 10 to be two up. He was three up when number 15 was holed out, but Holmes took 16 and 17. Ewert was one up on the home stretch, and won the last hole with a birdie four to win the match, two up. Ewert's score for the 18 holes was 75; Holmes' 77.

Pairings for second round and results of second round follow:

Colorful Nome: BORN in a GOLD RUSH, REBORN in FIRE

"The boom was on. And what a boom! . . . The gay old story of the mining camp was re-enacted, far up in the Arctic, on the shores of a sea that was frozen for seven months out of every year."

WHEN a September breeze picked up a glowing spark from somebody's chimney and dropped it on the shingle roof of the Golden Gate Hotel in the Arctic city of Nome, the most romantic and colorful town in romantic and colorful Alaska went up in smoke—and left 1200 people without shelter on the eve of winter.

For the whole town was built of wood—dry, seasoned wood that burned like tinder. Even the streets were paved with planks. Houses lay close together. And a stiff breeze was blowing in just the right direction.

So Nome burned, almost to the last building. Shelter was gone, food was gone; in another month the upper Bering Sea would be jammed full of ice so that no steamers could come in. The burned-out residents of Nome were in a bad spot.

Help arrived promptly, however. Three U. S. coast guard vessels hastened to the spot with food and clothing. A steamship company cut its rates on building materials in half and hurried to complete two more trips to Nome before winter should close the town's harbor. And a ship that was down the coast with a cargo of reindeer meat for the United States came in and unloaded at Nome, thus dispelling the last fears of famine.

But the disaster was a cruel one, nevertheless. Nome will be rebuilt, of course — its people have all the vitality of the mining camp breed which takes things like fire and destruction right in its stride. But the romantic old town which, perhaps more than any other, epitomized in its history the gaudy tale of

Now for the typographical error.

Back in the '90s, it is said, a San Francisco tailor picked up his daily paper, looked among the classified ads, and saw a bit of type saying that "tailors" were wanted for a ship bound to Alaska. Without stopping to wonder what a ship might want of tailors, he made up his mind to go, and did go. Not until he had got out to sea did he discover that the word was a misprint for "sailors."

The skipper took pity on him and allowed him to leave the ship at a native settlement, far up the Alaskan coast. The tailor lived for a time with the Indians, by whom he was equipped with food, tent, blankets and a small boat. In this he started along the coast.

EN ROUTE, he met three white prospectors, who had found a few nuggets of gold in a little stream. They gave him a small nugget and sent him on his way.

Eventually he camped at the mouth of what is now the Nome river, where he met an Eskimo

THE ice lies long on the beaches before Nome in the spring—just as it comes early in the fall. The town was already booming, that spring of '99, before the ice finally went out. And then came an even more astounding discovery, which tripled the tempo of the boom.

A humble private in the United States army detachment which was quartered in Nome was wandering along the beach one morning. Having been stationed in Alaska for some time, he knew a thing or two about placer mining. He seems to have had an experimental turn of mind; or, perhaps, he was just idly trying to kill time. At any rate, he began panning the sand of the open beach—and discovered that it was full of gold.

What the flames left of romantic Nome—a photograph taken shortly after the fire, showing two coast guards and two of the city's refugees among the ruins.

Below—when the coast guards rushed help to stricken Nome. Homeless residents of the one-time boom town are shown being taken aboard the cutter Chelan after the fire.

The picturesque city of the sourdoughs is no more, but its romantic history lives on, and already a new town rises from the ashes of the old

Here was something new under the sun—an open beach whose sand was full of gold dust! It was a paradise for the miner. Not even the staking of claims was necessary. You simply went to the beach and got rich—or, at any rate, you did if you were one of the lucky early arrivals.

News of this discovery spread back through the United States in no time. Where one man had gone to Nome before, three went now. What happened to the soldier who had started it all—whether he got rich, left the army, and led the pleasant life which is the lot of lucky gold-seekers, or whether he somehow missed out on things and went back to the daily routine of doing squads east in the land of the midnight sun—is nowhere stated. So much was happening that the gold-seeking private's name got lost in the shuffle.

For the boom was on. And what a boom! Within two years Nome was the largest city in Alaska, with a population of 20,000 in the summer of 1902. The gay old story of the mining camp was re-enacted, far up in the Arctic, on the shores of a sea that was frozen for seven months out of every year. Good men and bad men, strong men and weak ones, kind men and cruel ones, saints and villains—they were all there, unshaven and hard-fisted, just as they had all been present in the boom towns of California and South Dakota and Nevada and Colorado.

AND some of them, of course, did actually cash in on the dream that had led them there. Some of them did actually get rich quickly, the way they all planned to do.

One Missouri Bill gathered $12,000 in one day. Two others pocketed $3800 in two days. Within two months of the time the infantryman had made his strike, more than $1,000,000 worth of gold had been taken from the sands. The beach yielded $5,000,000 in one year.

in a cow and selling fresh milk at $5 a bottle. Incidentally, he was suspected of stretching his cow's output by diluting the milk with cornstarch, water and other things.

Banks, lodging houses, restaurants, dance halls, saloons—saloons without number—warehouses, stores, private lodgings and so on sprang up overnight. The streets became bottomless lanes of mud, for Nome is built on the black soil of the Arctic tundra. To get about the town at all, the citizens had to pave the streets with boards.

Such writers as Rex Beach and Jack London were among the newcomers, and they lived to write gaudy, stirring tales of the life there. Yet their tales hardly scratched the surface. Life moved so fast, it was so colorful and eventful, so unpredictable and tumultuous, that the busiest writer could not tell a tenth of it all.

There was a missionary, for instance, who came to Nome—came down from the upper Yukon, reaching Nome with just $5 in his pockets. By the time he had paid for the right to sleep on the floor of an Indian's hut, and had bought supper and breakfast, he had 25 cents left. Then a prospector learned that a man of the cloth was in town, and took advantage of the occasion to get married to a dance hall girl. The missionary was paid $25 in gold dust. It tided him over until a remittance could arrive from the states.

Sanitation was an unknown art, and Nome was swept by epidemics of typhoid and diphtheria—foreshadowing the dramatic days of a decade ago, when a dog team made a heroic dash across the snow-covered wastes to bring in the serum that saved the town from another diphtheria epidemic.

The beach sands were soon played out, and the sands and gravel beds along the river were either staked out or exhausted—or both. The boom began to diminish.

But as the "wide open" stage passed, opportunities for well-financed mining companies remained. Dredges were put to work up the river. Mines were dug farther inland. Population declined, but as the boom passed a steady, unspectacular gold trade took its place.

mo chief. He showed the chief the nugget, and the chief remarked that there were dozens and dozens of those things in that very river. The tailor investigated, found that the chief was correct, and sailed off to a white settlement to get help and the proper equipment.

The result was a gold rush—and the establishment of Nome.

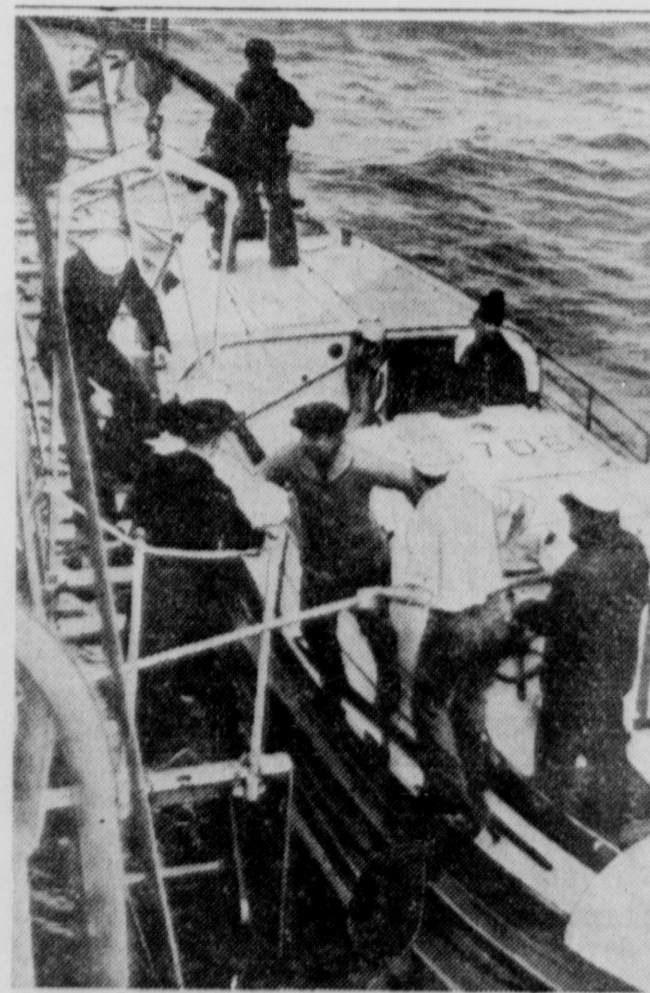

That, at any rate, is the story. And whether it is true or not, it is a revealing sort of anecdote—for it was precisely the sort of thing that could and did happen, in the days when Americans were just beginning to discover that "Seward's folly" was richly endowed with the precious metal.

However the gold rush first got under way, the spring of 1899 found things booming at Nome. From all over the United States people were being infected by the fever. Grizzled prospectors from the Dakota hills and the Colorado mountains were hurrying to Seattle to take ships for Nome; clerks, students, business men, drifters, farmers—everybody and anybody, who could get away—headed for the fabulous rivers whose beds were full of gold.

the great gold rush of '98—that is gone forever. According to the legends, Nome got its name from a copyist's mistake and its start from a typographical error.

That statement is a trifle obscure, perhaps. Here's the explanation.

THE earliest maps of Alaska drawn up by U. S. government cartographers didn't have names for all the bays, capes and inlets. Among the spots that were nameless was a cape which jutted far out into the Bering Sea. Some early official, who disliked to see a map without the proper labels, pencilled across this cape the query, "Name?" A copyist, transcribing this map a little later, misread it and labeled the cape Nome. Nome it has been ever since, and when a city sprang up there it too became Nome.

In the three years from 1902 to 1904, inclusive, the peninsula's output was nearly $13,500,000.

All of this meant that life moved high, wide and handsome in Nome. Prices soared to the very sky. Lumber sold for $400 a 1000 feet. A tiny one-room shack could be sold for $600. A ton of coal brought from $50 to $100. One man became rich by the expedient of bringing

LABOR NEXT?

Bar-to-the-ground groups here have been tipped to look up that post-election radio talk made by Commerce Secretary Roper on the Washington Star radio forum last Thursday.

Few noticed it at the time, but three little sentences tucked unobtrusively down on page three, which are supposed to form the biggest trial balloon floated around these parts since the maiden voyage of the Macon.

Coupled with certain other inside developments, they afford a rather broad hint that the New Dealers are feeling out their way toward a labor policy which may stop or hinder destructive strikes.

One incipient idea is supposed to be the creation of a formidable national labor relations board or some such agency to act in threatening labor disputes before the strikes are called instead of after.

It might be planned out along the lines of the railroad mediation board.

Another suggestion is the incorporation of unions, but no one is seriously considering that.

FEELER

What Mr. Roper said was:

"Citizens cannot properly demand rights unless they are willing to assume the responsibilities inherent in those rights. To illustrate, if we wish to exercise the right of not working, that is, to strike, this right should be safeguarded, but in so doing we should defend the right not to strike, that is the right to work without molestation."

It is mandatory upon both employers and employees to live up to their part of the agreements determined upon; each must be just as responsible to the public and must be held to just as strict accountability as the other."

Mr. Roper might as well have said straight out that the New Dealers had restricted the employers, and also the farmers, for their own good and the public good, and now it is time to restrict labor agitators.

At least that is the interpretation logically placed on Roper's remarks by the laborites. And they know very well a cabinet officer of Mr. Roper's standing does not talk so firmly about such a dangerous subject unless he speaks with authority.

RESISTANCE

The hint caused excitement backstage in labor ranks. The A. F. of L. undoubtedly will contest any such move and call it inaccurately "fascism." What the administration ultimately decided to do will probably be determined by the general public reaction to the food for thought cast upon the ether waves by Mr. Roper.

From other sources, the labor boys have heard that agitation will be started outside the administration shortly for a national labor board with teeth in it. The agitation will NOT come directly from the manufacturers, but from certain other organizations.

Everyone agrees strikes are destructive both to labor and capital. Nearly all recent ones have caused deaths, suffering and heavy losses and few gains for either side. The public suffers from disrupted supplies and increased prices.

It would be fascism if the government denied labor the right to strike, but no one has such an idea even vaguely in mind. What many sincere authorities want to do is to work out satisfactory machinery so that labor disputes will be adjusted before the killings start.

FIGHT

Trouble never ceases inside the NRA, but there has been more than the usual discord there lately. It is about the service codes affecting restaurants, laundries, hotels, garages, barber shops, cleaning and dyeing, photo finishers and undertakers.

One crowd has been working secretly to drop the service codes on the ground that they are not being observed and cannot be enforced. Dropping those codes would mean an end to one-tenth of the entire NRA, as three to four million workers are involved. This phase was curtailed radically last May when General Johnson scrapped everything except the wages and hours provisions.

The labor advisory board is up in arms. It has composed a confidential report to President Roosevelt bristling with demands for retention of the codes.

Mr. Roosevelt undoubtedly will side with Miss Perkins for retention of the codes.

NOTES

Another confidential report has been made to Mr. Roosevelt by the advisory board, recommending that he impose codes on all industries not now having any. Industries which would be affected include: telephones, tobacco, meat packing, insurance.

That radio speech made by Interior Secretary Ickes the other night lambasting the Republicans was mild compared with the one he originally wrote. He sent the original to Hyde Park and it came back considerably toned down.

When Mr. Ickes was going to step before the microphone, the announcer asked if it would be all right to introduce him as "Honest Harold," Mr. Ickes erupted: "You can call me anything you like but DON'T call me honest Harold."

A Pennsylvania business man who apparently never heard of the New Deal wrote the commerce department the other day asking why Dr. Julius Klein was no longer on the air. Dr. Klein was the Hooverite who broadcast those cheery weekly business talks.

The Democrats made only one polite gesture to the Republicans during the election. The only Republican they permitted to win in Cuyahoga county (Cleveland) was the coroner, Arthur J. NEW YORK

By James McMullin

SURVIVAL

The principal effect of the New Deal election sweep on New York was to strengthen the armistice between Washington and Wall Street. The tidal wave of votes melted such financial opposition as had resisted Moley's missionary work. White House chats with New York leaders and the bankers' convention love feast. It isn't that the conservatives are any fonder of New Deal heresies. Rather it's a case of realizing at last that surrender is preferable to suicide. There are a number of die-hards left but they'll be mighty mum in deed as well as in word from here on.

The main worry now is whether the leftist strength in the new congress will force the president away from his current conciliatory attitude towards business and finance. Most insiders believe he will do his best to keep the lions caged as long as big bankers and business men show willingness to pull weight for reemployment and recovery.

This doesn't mean that Wall Street has permanently abandoned hope of recapturing the reins of government. But the men who talked so confidently about a "return to sanity" in 1936 now concede that their dreams cannot come true before 1940. Meanwhile they recognize that adaption to the popular mood is the key to their survival until then.

REPUBLICANS

The atmosphere in inner New York Republican circles is blue with recriminations. Backstage leaders are telling each other that everyone should have known an attack on the New Deal without a constructive alternative was

PLOT

But all isn't sweetness under the New York Democratic tent either despite the jubilation. Tammany is bitter at Comptroller Frank Taylor's narrow escape and is eager to take it out of somebody's side—preferably Jim Farley's. Even the prospect of being back in the city gravy doesn't assuage the Tiger's wrath.

Some of the influential old guard braves cherish a secret ambition to send a New York delegation to the Democratic convention of 1936 instructed against FDR. Informal sources hint that Al Smith wouldn't object to being in on the plot. In any case a lively factional row is brewing for control of the state party machine and Farley will have to keep his eyes wide open.

CONSOLATION

Anti-Tammanites get a few crumbs of comfort out of McGoldrick's defeat. The Wigwag had a full head of steam on for Taylor, and his bare 13,000 plurality is encouraging to the opposition. Some shrewd observers believe it will actually benefit fusion to have Taylor on the board of estimate. His record will give them a target to shoot at in the next city election. Stirring up civic indignation against Tammany is figured easier on attack than defense.

RELIEF

One of the city administration's toughest jobs will be selling the citizens on more taxes for relief. Insiders say that the latest appropriation of $37,000,000 for two months isn't a patch on what's coming. The big problem is to convince business men that the money must be raised as insurance against social disorder without driving them out of town to duck the levies. It won't be a question of this tax or that—but of this and that.

PROMISES

The informed predict that many other cities will have the same headache in an acute form before the winter is out.

New York scouts report a bumper crop of radical promises made by newly elected congressmen to their constituents.

A Wall Streeter remarks that if they were all piled on top of each other they would make the Rockies look like anthills. He adds that he can't possibly think of a lovelier bonfire.

HOLY SPIRIT IS SUNDAY THEME OF EVANGELIST

Addressing a great crowd that packed the Big Tent Cathedral to capacity yesterday afternoon, Evangelist Parrott preached on the subject, "The Baptism of the Holy Spirit." The Rev. Parrott, who is conducting a non-sectarian revival campaign in the tent, located at First street and Orange avenue, used various New Testament scriptures as his text and foundation for the sermon.

"The baptism of the Holy Spirit has been dreadfully abused. Many demonstrations and things have been done in the name of the baptism of the Holy Spirit that are not within one hundred miles of it," said the Rev. Parrott. "But," he continued, "in spite of the fact that this glorious truth has been drug in disrepute, it still stands."

"When I found out that a man could be sane, sober, orthodox, scriptural and yet have the real baptism of the Holy Spirit, I said, 'Lord, that's what I've been looking for.' The evangelist pointed out in Acts 2:39 that the 'promise of the Holy Spirit' is for people today, and said, 'If you are called to be a Christian, you are called to be filled with the Spirit.' He declared that some churches have more fire in the cook stove than they have in the pulpit or the pew."

The Rev. Parrott then said, "The churches in seeking the power of God have tried organization, and have not found it there. Then they tried Social service (including pea-soup dinners and sandwich socials). They then tried education, and the ministry of today is educated to a higher degree than at any previous period, and yet the world plunges on toward hell." He pointed out how Peter, after being baptized with the Holy Spirit on the day of Pentecost, and not having any of the afore-mentioned advantages, preached one sermon and 3000 people were saved.

"The Baptism of the Holy Spirit is more than just a blessing or an anointing. It is receiving the Blesser, the third Person of the Godhead, the Holy Spirit, into our in-

Christian Science

John's words, "He that cometh from above is above all; he that is of the earth is earthly, and speaketh of the earth," were the Golden Text in the lesson-sermon on "Adams and Fallen Man" yesterday at Santa Ana in all branches of The Mother Church, First Church of Christ, Scientist.

A Bible citation in the lesson-sermon included these verses from Genesis: "And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness; and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them. And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it; and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth."

One of the passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated, "The divine principle, or spirit, comprehends and expresses all, and all must therefore be as perfect as the divine principle is perfect."

nearest being. If the Apostles who walked and talked with Jesus needed to be filled with the Holy Spirit, how much more do God's people today need the baptism of the Holy Spirit, and you'll know when you get the genuine experience."

He closed his sermon by relating how he had personally received the Holy Spirit after he had been preaching in Methodism as pastor and evangelist for ten years. It is reported that nearly 250 people came to the altars of prayer at the invitation of the evangelist.

Another large crowd packed the big tent for the evening evangelistic service. The Rev. Parrott will continue his revival meetings every night this week except Saturday. He announced his subject for tonight as, "And Peter." On Tuesday night he will again pray for the sick people. "Go Call Your Husband" is the subject for Wednesday night. The Parrott revival broadcast is presented over KREG daily at 4:30 p. m.

COUNT YOUR COUNTRY, PEACE, AMONG BLESSINGS OF PRESENT SAYS SALVATION ARMY LEADER

In an Armistice Day sermon yesterday at the Citadel, Captain C. W. Gallipo, of the Salvation Army, pointed to the blessings of life in America, and the fact that the nation lives in peace, after war, as among the reasons for giving thanks to the Creator. His sermon topic was "Count Your Blessings."

Quoting Psalms 92:1, "It is as still rings the deadening thud of good thing to give thanks unto the Lord for...." he exclaimed, "Our country! What a wonderful country we have!"

"Kissed on its sandy shores by the relentless waves of two mighty oceans, it swells into the grandeur of snow clad mountain ranges, whose supreme majesty bespeaks the omnipotence of their Creator, then humbly melt away into the velvet cloak of grass-covered meadows and fertile fields."

"Dotted here and there with silvery streams and Diamond-like lakes; its orchards bending with ripe, luscious fruit; its granaries bulging with the harvest of gold on grain, rich in mineral and produce, it bequeaths to its dwellers a natural wealth and prosperity."

"Is it not good to give thanks to the Lord for our wonderful country? Typical of the promised Canaan, it was sought out and settled by God's people. It's government was heated in the forge of righteousness and shaped on the anvil of justice. Even as the precious Saviour died that all might be saved, so our nation gives to all the blessing of equality and opportunity."

"We have a free country, free from bondage and slavery. Free from prejudice of religious restraint. A country whose pulse is alive and warm with brotherly love and Godly reverence; who has learned from the lowly Master, 'charity, sweet charity that vaunteth not itself.'"

"And with confidence and trust we can stand beside the 'Flower of our nation,' the splendid young men and women of today, and stretch forth our hand from the sunset of Pilgrim days, along the horizon to the golden sunrise of the future and leave these words: 'O God, our help in ages past, Our hope for years to come, Be Thou our Guard while life shall last, And our eternal Home!'"

"Peace—It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord for.... What sweeter salutation could greet our ears than the words of the Master, 'Peace be unto you, Peace to a world in whose memory

CAPTAIN GALLIPO ATTENDS COUNCIL

Captain and Mrs. C. W. Gallipo, of the Salvation Army, went to Redondo Beach this morning to attend the two-day council of the Salvation Army Officers of the Southern California division.

The council will be held at the Salvation Army fresh-air camp, under the leadership of Brigadier A. D. Jackson, divisional commander. Three councils will be held daily, the first day being devoted to religious matters, and the second day to social conditions in Southern California.

Captain and Mrs. Gallipo will return home Tuesday evening.

Fair enough—

WE tell you that Chesterfield Cigarettes are made of mild, ripe tobaccos. We've told you about the paper—that it's pure and burns right, without taste or odor.

We have said that Chesterfields are made right. The tobaccos are aged, then blended and cross-blended, and cut into shreds the right width and length to smoke right.

These things are done to make what people want—a cigarette that's milder, a cigarette that tastes better—a cigarette that satisfies.

You can prove what we tell you about Chesterfield. May we ask you to try them—that would seem to be fair enough.

REPORT SHOWS
ASSISTANCE TO CRIPPLED

Several children being aided by the Orange County Crippled Children's Relief Association donated blood to be used as serum during the infantile paralysis epidemic in range county this summer, and the association contributed $50 to the health department for that purpose. It was shown in the annual report of President E. S. Morrow issued today.

The sum of $755.40 was expended for braces and other articles for the use of crippled children, it was stated. Reports on the condition of various patients was included.

The annual Christmas program, sponsored by the Anaheim Lions club, was held at the Elks club in Anaheim, each child being remembered with a gift.

The report covered care given handicapped children by competent teachers, with orthopedic work at the county hospital. The joint drive for 1935 funds with the Salvation Army and the Ruth Home, appeared likely to fall short of the goal, said the report.

The annual report of Miss E. Kate Rea, treasurer, showed receipts of $751.24 during the year, added to a previous balance of $718.26, and expenditures totalling $755.40, leaving a present cash balance of $714.10.

Turkey Will Be Given Away At Cooking Class

Instruction and recipes for a Thanksgiving day dinner will be given in the weekly Southern Counties Gas company cooking school class conducted by Margaret S. Lackland at the gas company's offices tomorrow afternoon.

The menu which will be prepared during the class will include tomato bouillon with oysters, turkey with celery dressing, sweet potato balls, creamed onions, and salad and dessert.

The turkey will be given away at the close of the session by Mrs. Lackland.

Bus Purchased
By School Board

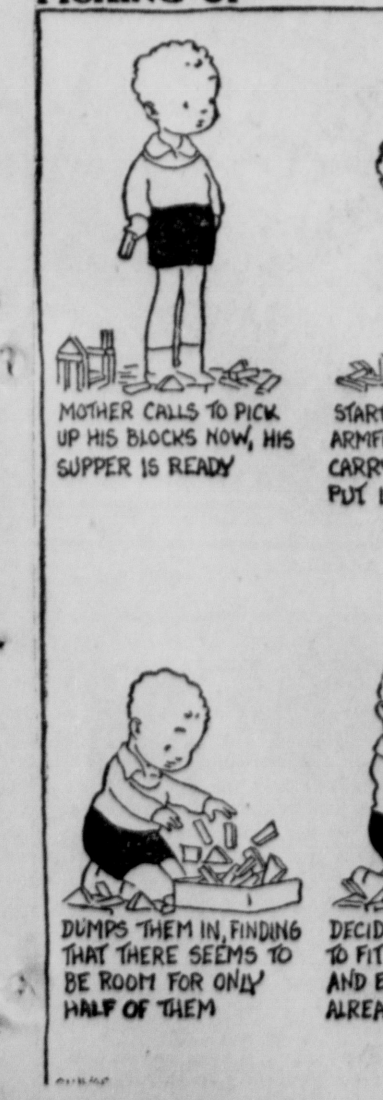

CYPRESS, Nov. 12.—Students of the Cypress grammar school residing at a distance from town will soon be served by bus, the result of a purchase last week by members of the school board of a one-half ton bus in Santa Ana. The car has a seating capacity of 49 which with added seats may be increased to 55.

Harold Boos, school principal, and John Uter are to act as drivers. Money for the purchase was drawn from the surplus left in the building fund during the past year.

Don't let them get a strangle hold. Fight them quickly. Creomulsion combines 7 helps in one. Powerful but harmless. Pleasant to take. No narcotics. Your own druggist is authorized to refund your money on the spot if your cough or cold is not relieved by Creomulsion. (Adv.)

PICKING UP

Repatriated

Mrs. Frank J. Gould, when she landed in New York, smiled with pleasure in contemplation of the task before her—buying furnishings for a new home at Ardsley-on-the-Hudson. Her wealthy husband, who has not been in America since 1914, expects to reside here frequently hereafter.

PHILHARMONIC TO OPEN SEASON SOON

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12.—Grand opening of the sixteenth season of the Philharmonic Orchestra with Dr. Otto Klemperer conducting is set for Thursday night, November 15, marking the first season under the sponsorship of Southern California Symphony Association.

Supported for 15 years by the William Andrews Clark Jr. foundation, the celebrated orchestra this year starts a new era in its career with citizens of Southern California contributing directly to its maintenance.

Arriving here from New York where he enjoyed the distinction of opening the ninety-first season of the New York Philharmonic Symphony, Dr. Klemperer today began rehearsals for the forthcoming opening.

Tomorrow night the distinguished director and his wife will be honor guests at a Philharmonic Civic dinner. Dr. Max Farrand, director of the Huntington Library will deliver the welcoming address. Erich Wolfgang Korngold, one of the foremost composers of the world will be among the special guests. Three hundred reservations already have been received. Public is invited.

TUSTIN

TUSTIN, Nov. 12.—George Gaylord Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Gaylord, of Pacific avenue, is convalescing nicely from a recent minor operation.

A group of local women motored to La Verne Thursday to attend the all day San Diego district meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary societies of the Advent Christian churches. Those making the trip were Mesdames Vera Robinson, Harry Hanson, Martha Shatto, Carrie Elton, L. Harper, Christina Squires, Vera Shoemaker Virginia Hansen, Nell Beltz and Leroy Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Smith have returned from a motor trip to El Paso, Tex., and Carlsbad Caverns, N. M.

Dr. Edith Johnson, of Hot Springs, Ark., was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Hibbet.

NEARS 13 DECADE MARK

COUNTY'S OLDEST RESIDENT
QUIETLY CELEBRATES 129TH
ANNIVERSARY OF HER BIRTH

Certainly the oldest person in Orange county, and undoubtedly one of the oldest in the country, Senora Martina de la Rosa quietly celebrated her 129th birthday yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Esperona Placentia on Central avenue in Delhi.

Senora de la Rosa, with the exception of naturally falling sight and hearing is active and in good health and is able to get about the house and yard with the aid of only a slender cane. She also goes for a walk accompanied by one of her descendants every day.

Senora de la Rosa was born in Mexico near what is now Agua Caliente in 1805, and came to Delhi 16 years ago. She still remembers the colorful celebrations in her honor in the days of the dons in Mexico and California. Since coming to Delhi Senora de la Rosa has made her home with Mrs. Placentia, who is her youngest and only living daughter.

Mrs. Placentia said that her mother observes regular habits, retiring late in the afternoon each day, and arising at 5 o'clock the next morning. She would like to get up at 3 o'clock but Mrs. Placentia no longer allows it. Senora de la Rosa takes her meals with the rest of the family and eats everything. For all her age she has never had any digestive trouble.

When asked to what, if anything, she attributed her longevity, the senora said that she did not know of any particular reason unless it was because she had never had to work hard like most of her countrywomen.

The daughter said that when told of the happenings of the day that her mother shows a lively interest, but of necessity leads a quiet life herself.

Also living in Delhi besides Mrs. Placentia are five grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren, and two great-great-grandchildren.

Poultry Breeders
Plan Exhibition
At Pasadena Show

Poultry breeders of Orange county are planning to exhibit their best stock in the third annual Los Angeles county Mid-Winter Poultry show which is scheduled for the Pasadena Civic auditorium January 17, 18, 19 and 20.

According to the announcement

Good-bye
COLD!When This Famous Remedy
Gets on the Job!

It's just too bad for a cold when you take Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. For this famous tablet soon has the cold on its way. Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine acts quickly and decisively because it is expressly a cold remedy and because it gets at a cold from the inside.

Complete relief is had with Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine because it is a complete treatment. It does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippiness and tones and fortifies the entire system. Anything less than that is courting danger. Get Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine at any druggist, 30c and 50c. Ask for it by the full name and resist a substitute. (Adv.)

There will be a four-day course in poultry breeding in conjunction with the show which will offer pointers for beginners.

Several Orange county breeders, including the Children's Hatchery, 618 North Bristol street, Santa Ana, and W. E. Patterson of Tustin, have announced that they will exhibit their birds.

Further information may be obtained by writing to Claude A. Potter, 337 Central avenue, Los Angeles, the announcement said.

He heard someone coming and turned. It was Fleming of the Times. "Hi, there!" Fleming greeted him. "Have you seen McNeal around any where?"

"He was here a few minutes ago. Said he was going to see the chief."

Fleming gave a low whistle. "Wonder what that means?"

Bannister shook his head. "I don't know. McNeal's sore because of the way the newspapers have been jumping on the police department."

"They'll jump on it a lot harder if there isn't some action on these murder cases pretty soon. McNeal's all right for routine jobs but he doesn't know how to tackle a murder—"

CHAPTER XL

The letter was not a long one. It was written on a sheet of paper bearing at the top the name, "Anderson Photo Studio." Below was a signature Bannister did not recognize. The letter read:

"Dear Mr. Bannister—Your letter addressed to the Swann Studio was delivered to me. Fifteen years ago I bought out Mr. Swann and took over the business, changing the name to Anderson Photo Studio. Mr. Swann moved to the west coast and has died since."

"I am sorry that I have no way of identifying the people in the picture. There were a few old negatives on file when I took over the shop but none as old as the picture you sent. That must have been taken 30 or 40 years ago. In 1919 the studio caught fire and several files were destroyed. If the old negative was here at that time it must have been burned. I showed the picture to several old-timers around here but none had any idea who the man and woman were. I am sending the picture back to you under separate cover and am sorry not to be able to supply the information. Very sincerely, R. K. Anderson, Prop."

Bannister read the letter through a second time. Well, that was that! If the negative had been there was certainly little hope of identifying the picture. Bannister was disappointed. He had felt, for some reason he could not explain, that the old wedding picture might have bearing on Tracy King's murder, that it would help untangle the strange threads of recent events. The feeling was merely a hunch. Perhaps for that reason he had counted on it all the more.

ATHLETICS ON PROGRAM FOR
CCC CAMP BOYS

By C. C. GILLETTE

CAMPUS OF COMPANY 912, CCC, CAMP SAN JUAN, No. 12.—Company 912's crack baseball club fought its way into the finals of the March Field districts championship, but went down fighting at last before the Vista Grande team in a close, 6 to 4 battle, featured by tight pitching and errorless support.

That morning the San Juan team had eliminated the Cuyamaca team, 6 to 5.

Plans for basketball competition were completed at a meeting of educational advisors and commanders at March field. Company 912 will benefit in its preparation for meeting other camp teams of the district, by being allowed to practice on the gym floor of Capistrano high school, through the courtesy of the school board and Principal Stanberry.

Those who were watching the Orto highway last Wednesday from the campus of Company 912, and were blinded by a great, shiny object rolling down the highway, did not see an apparition. It was the reality of the new army truck, long awaited, but now fresh from the factory, and with only 30 miles on its speedometer. Company 912 now has two trucks, their full quota. Thanks to the fine cooperation of the forestry service under Superintendent James Wordie, the transportation problem has been very effectively handled.

Winter is omened as the trucks are being shipped to the barracks. They are seen daily rolling into camp, frequently with great loads of logs, which are piled up in neat rows for use in the many stoves in the barracks and other buildings when warmth is needed.

Boxing has taken a new spurt at this camp, with promise by officials of March field that a "Gold Glove" tournament will be held at that district's headquarters later this fall. Many of the men have had excellent practice at the local stadium where they have been matched with local talent from surrounding towns, before enthusiastic crowds of fight fans.

Due to lack of space and the high interest in the classes, not all can get into the drying room at once. Leader Leatherman has his own movie camera and projector, which he uses freely for the benefit of the students on these long winter evenings.

Credit is being given here to the California State Teachers college of San Francisco, for its excellent cooperation in furnishing this and other camps of the Ninth Corps Area with free correspondence courses. The new auto mechanic lessons, so long eagerly awaited, are now available, and interest in the court is rapidly increasing. Other courses offered include psychology, how to study, blue print reading, business English, forestry, photography, and Diesel.

Several trucks hauled the men of Company 912 out to the polls last Tuesday to perform their citizenship duties and vote for their favorite candidates. The men were allowed the day off, to vote, if registered, or up to three days, two without pay, if a long trip was needed to reach their home polling place.

GAS COMPANY
GIVES PROGRAM FOR BUILDERS

With the Southern Counties Gas Co. in charge, the regular monthly meeting of the Orange County Builders' Exchange will be held at 6:30 tomorrow night in the K. of P. hall, 325 West Center street, Anaheim, and will feature a speaker furnished by the gas company, and nominations for officers of the Exchange.

The entire program is under the auspices of the gas company who have procured H. W. Geyer, utilization engineer, as the speaker of the evening. They are also furnishing a 10-piece orchestra for the entertainment of those attending.

The nominating committee will be ready with their choices for officers, and further nominations will be heard from the floor, Loren Moore, chairman of the meeting, announced.

It was pointed out by Moore that this is a change of meeting place, and the members are reminded by him of the new addresses.

Townsend Clubs
Plan Meetings

Three Townsend meetings are scheduled for this week, with club No. 2 gathering at 7:30 tonight in the church at Third and Shelton streets. The club for residents of the northwest section will meet tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the Hoover school, 403 East Santa Clara, and the same time has been chosen for the meeting of residents on the northeast section in Lincoln school, 1415 Fernch street.

The meeting in the Lincoln school is for the organization of the people of that section, and leaders of the movement have asked for everyone interested to attend. There will be an election of officers at the Hoover school meeting the announcement said.

Special programs and speakers have been arranged with S. E. Cook speaking at the Hoover school, and music and a speaker at the club No. 2 meeting, according to the announcements.

The UNKNOWN BLOND By Laura Lou BROOKMAN

© 1933 NEA SERVICE INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

David Bannister undertakes to find out who killed Tracy King, orchestra leader. Bannister is an author and former newspaper man. He works on the murder case with Gaine, star reporter on the Post.

Among those suspected are Juliet France, blond, pretty and known to have visited King shortly before his death; Herman Scutcher, who wrote King a threatening letter; and Joe Parrott, down-and-out vaudeville actor. It is also known that Melvina Hollister, middle-aged spinster, had quarreled with King recently.

Al Dragan, friend of King's, is found dead in a wrecked automobile. Bannister persuades the police chief to let Juliet come to his aunt's home, ostensibly as a guest, on the theory that if the girl believes herself free they can learn more about her.

Melvina Hollister is found strangled in the apartment where she lived with her brother, Matthew. Bannister learns that her death evokes Matthew's heir to $150,000. He discovers in his pocket the letter he had forgotten to read.

State D. A. R. Regent Complimented at Luncheon

Paying a charming compliment to their state regent, Mrs. Elmer Horace Whitaker of Santa Barbara, members of Santa Ana chapter Daughters of American Revolution, entertained Saturday at luncheon, with Mrs. E. G. Summers opening her home at 624 South Ross street, for the event.

Mrs. Summers was joined in hostess duties by a committee composed of Mesdames M. M. Holmes, chairman, I. R. Hendrie, O. S. Johnston, T. P. McKee, W. C. Wilson and the Misses Abbie and Louise Chapman. The covered dish menu included ham loaf with its accompanying vegetables and salad ending with a dessert course of pumpkin pie and coffee. Tables were arranged not only in the dining room but also in the garden near the outdoor fireplace and grill.

The customary business session of the chapter was held in the afternoon with Mrs. Henry Guthrie, regent, presiding. Mrs. Whitaker gave a very fine address on accomplishments and ideals of the D. A. R. which was followed by a general discussion, during which she answered questions relating to activities.

The gift of a comfort made by several members of the chapter, was accepted to be sent to one of the Indian reservations. Reports also showed that several layettes upon which different members have been working, are now completed and are ready for needy families.

With Mrs. Whitaker as guest of honor, were several other important guests, including Mrs. Victor Golding Lely, regent of the Mother Colony chapter of Anaheim, and Mrs. Jean Merriam Nash of Long Beach, who accompanied her sister, Mrs. W. D. Guthrie. Mrs. Nash and Mrs. Guthrie received congratulations of chapter members upon the success of their brother, Governor Frank Merriam, at the recent election.

Department Aides of Corps Have Meeting

Holding their first meeting since their recent banishment, W. R. C. department aides were guests last Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Hattie Conrad, 68 French street.

At the close of a social afternoon the hostess served refreshments of sandwiches, cake and tea. She was assisted by her daughter, Miss Eleanor Conrad.

Plans were made for the next meeting, to be held Friday, December 14 at 2 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Mabel Elliott, North Ross street.

Present with the hostess, Mrs. Conrad, were Mesdames Lula Hall, Letta Morgan, Bell McConnell, Lena Patterson, Mabel Elliott and Meta Caldwell.

Friends Entertained At Bridge Luncheon

Mrs. A. Martin and Mrs. W. White of this city were among guests who on Friday were pleasantly entertained in Fullerton at a bridge luncheon given by Mrs. C. C. Irwin in her home in the Rex Courts.

Golden yellow chrysanthemums were used about the home and furthered the holiday motif established at the luncheon tables by small Thanksgiving turkeys used as centerpieces, each filled with candies. Place cards and favors did their part in creating the Thanksgiving atmosphere.

In the bridge contest of the afternoon hours, prizes were awarded Mrs. M. Ferguson, holder of first high score, and Mrs. H. C. West, second high. Others sharing Mrs. Irwin's hospitality were Mrs. E. Baker, Mrs. Autell and Mrs. W. Davis of Buena Park.

Junior Ebell Group To Have Open Meeting

Junior Ebell Music, Art and Drama section will stage an open meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the clubhouse lounge, when Mrs. Mildred Bryant Brooks of Pasadena, etcher, painter and lecturer, will give an illustrated talk, Mrs. Wendell Finley, section leader, will preside.

Junior and Senior Ebell groups as a whole, with their husbands and friends, are invited to attend the meeting. The speaker will display some of her etchings, telling how they were made. Her previous appearance in this city within the past several weeks have been before Rotary club and Business and Professional Women's clubs where she was received enthusiastically.

Mrs. Brooks will be accompanied to Santa Ana tomorrow night by her press agent, Miss Doris Robbins, formerly of this city.

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Breakfast
1 ripe pear or
1-2 grapefruit
2 thin slices graham toast
1 soft boiled egg
1 tsp. butter for egg and toast
1 cup coffee with
1-4 cup hot skim milk, no sugar.
Calory total 385.

At this time of the year poultry growers are getting rid of stock that cannot be carried over. At attractive prices for the housewife, too. Yesterday, I found stewing hens at 14 cents per pound. A hen weighing 31-2 pounds will make enough chicken pie for four, plus a nice pot of broth for chicken noodle soup.

Wash the chicken and cook it whole, seasoning with an onion, clove of garlic, celery tops, carrot, bay leaf and salt. Cook until tender, take up chicken and strip the meat off the bones. Strain the broth and add 2 cups milk to make the required amount of gravy. Thicken the gravy and top with rich biscuit dough rolled thin. Bake 20 minutes in a hot oven.

With vegetables, salad, and a simple dessert, a grand dinner can be served for about 80 cents.

There was a time when the mention of prunes was enough to spoil one's day, but those days are gone forever. Prunes, fancy pack and less fancy, have come into their own. I wonder if I lent the peculiar psychology of price which has made the change . . . you know . . . when we use a good price immediately. Any way, prune cake and prune whip are two grand articles of food. Here are the recipes:

TODAY'S RECIPE
Prune Cake

1 cup sugar
1-2 cup butter or substitute
1 cup cooked chopped prunes
1 cup prune juice mixed with
1 tsp. soda
2 eggs, whites beaten stiff
2-2 cups sifted cake flour
1-2 tsp. salt
2 tps. baking powder
2 tps. powdered chocolate
2 tps. mixed spices (nutmeg, cloves, cinnamon and allspice).
—Contributed.

Cream butter and sugar, add chopped prunes. Dissolve soda in prune juice and stir in, with slightly beaten egg yolks. Sift flour, spices, salt and baking powder twice and add to creamed butter. Fold in stiffly beaten whites and bake in two layer cake tins. Put together with a boiled white icing adding chopped almonds, maraschino cherries and a dusting of cocoanut over the iced cake.

If the cake is to be baked as a loaf cake, it is nice to add a large cupful of chopped dates and half a cup of walnuts.

Prune Whip
11-2 cups cooked prunes, pitted and run through grinder
2 egg whites beaten stiff with
1-2 cup sugar
2 tps. lemon juice
1-2 cup whipped cream, beaten stiff.

Combine ground prune pulp with whipped cream, then fold in the beaten cream and lemon juice and flavor with not more than 3 drops of almond extract. Chill until served. This same mixture may be served in a graham cracker pie crust, "cooked" by chilling it after lining the plate.

Tuesday: Two dishes that are favorites in my house: creamy onion soup and cheese scallop with tomato egg sauce.

A Young Carpenter

By Helen Welshimer
HE hewed the wood so carefully
With end to even end;
Now these would be door-slopes, he thought,
Where one could greet a friend.

THESE timbers were more gallant, so
He'd fashion them to form
Strong gates and walls and sloping roofs
To shut away the storm.

AND this, oh this small, funny piece
Would make a wooden ox,
A Roman soldier with a sword,
A set of building blocks.

THERE were no calls for two crossed beams,
And so he never knew
Until he had become a man
That wood makes crosses, too!

Thanksgiving Carnival Is Announced By Church of Messiah

Culminating several weeks of quiet planning on the part of members of the Women's auxiliary to Episcopal Church of the Messiah, was the announcement made today by Mrs. Frank Lansdown of a Thanksgiving carnival to be given Thursday afternoon and evening, November 22, in Ebell clubhouse.

Each year the auxiliary stages a holiday bazaar, and members have been working busily during the summer months on articles in wide variety for this event. But it was Mrs. Lansdown's idea to enlarge the scope of the bazaar and offer a gala affair for all members and friends of the church and everyone that likes the friendly rivalry of bridge or the gaiety of dancing.

The carnival will open in the early afternoon hours, with bridge to be played in the peacock room beginning at 2 o'clock. At 3:30 the card contest will be concluded and a fashion review will be staged by Katherine's Ready to Wear shop.

Bazaar features will be on display in the foyer of the clubhouse both afternoon and evening, and there will be various novelty booths and features.

An excellent orchestra has been promised for the dance of the evening with the program to begin at 8:30 o'clock. There will be interpolated program numbers, including songs, some special dances by a talented Santa Ana artist, and a fortune teller who will read the future for any interested guest.

Mrs. Lansdown as chairman, is being assisted by a large group of workers not only from the Women's auxiliary, but from other departments of the church. These include Mesdames Christian Bondley, A. H. Farrar, Bradford Helvis, Terry E. Stephenson, Charles Bailey, Lloyd Chenoweth, H. L. Bailey, Lloyd Chenoweth, H. L. Stone, C. B. Hill, George Chapman, Fred Anderson, Warren McCarty, William Wollaston, J. W. Crawford, Charles Dawes, E. F. Muscus, Adelle Lowe, M. D. Borgmeyer, S. E. Byler, Ruth Tiffany, James Hird, A. J. McKerley, L. Lusk, Ira Mercer, A. H. T. Taylor, Leonard G. Swales, the Misses Betty Bondley, Grace Corbin, Grace Fox, Messrs. Wallace Le Gras and Charles Dawson.

Literature Section Hears Book Review

Reviewing his new book, "Zarathustra Junior Speaks of Art," Louis Danz of Anaheim was speaker Friday afternoon at a meeting of Ebell Modern Literature section held in the home of Mrs. L. D. Coffing, 2437 North Park Boulevard.

Hostesses were Mrs. Coffing, Mrs. Lloyd Chenoweth, Mrs. Dexter Ball and Mrs. John Ball. They served refreshments at the close of the afternoon, when Mrs. Wilbur Barr and Mrs. Emmett Raitt poured tea.

Mrs. Chenoweth, leader, conducted a short business session.

Bride-elect Receives Gifts at Surprise Shower

Miss Alline Buck, fiancée of Robert C. Broomell, was honored at a surprise shower Friday afternoon when Mrs. Mae Nelson was hostess in her home, 1112 North Olive street.

A variety of appropriate guessing games had been planned for the diversion of the guests. Prizes were won by Mesdames Ernest Schilling, T. B. Thronson, Edward Moritz and George Calhoun.

Presentation of miscellaneous gifts to Miss Buck brought an interesting interval during which the packages were unwrapped and displayed. Decorations at the tea hour when refreshments were served, were in keeping with a winter theme. The hostess had assistance of her daughter, Mrs. F. E. Kingsbury.

Present with Miss Buck and her mother, Mrs. Lee Buck, were the hostess, Mrs. Nelson and Mesdames H. N. Buck, Harry Coleman, Ernest Schilling, T. B. Thronson, F. E. Kingsbury, George Calhoun, Ray Fraser, Howard Ryan, Ross Strimble, Edward Moritz, Arlon Duckett, and two children, Betty Lou Coleman and Jackie Duckett.

Mrs. J. A. Sadey left Sunday for her home in Chicago, concluding a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. James Hurd, 1418 West Second street.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Righter and daughters, Frances Jean and Harriet of Glendale, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Forman, 525 South Barton street.

The closing session of grand guardian council of Job's Daughters Saturday night in Long Beach was attended by a group from this city including Messrs. and Mesdames H. O. Crowe, William J. Dean and the Misses Mary Crowe, Mrs. Alice Russey and Eloise Schrier.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cozad, 921 West Fourth street, returned last week from Los Angeles where they spent the past three weeks. Mr. Cozad was in a hospital for an operation. He is reported making a gradual recovery at his home.

Mrs. C. W. Hyde Jr., 202 1-2 West Twentieth street, sailed Saturday afternoon on the United Fruit company liner "Chiriqui" for a trip to the Canal Zone. Several friends joined her husband and mother, C. W. Hyde Jr. and Mrs. Minnie Nary, in going to Los Angeles harbor to see her off on the voyage.

Damas White Shrine was well represented Saturday night at a meeting of San Geronimo Shrine, San Bernardino, when guest officers' night was observed. In the group were Messrs. and Mesdames W. O. Patterson, Wilford Lewis, James Targy, Mesdames Elizabeth Moore, J. H. Nicholson, Sue Henry, Eva Mae McConnell, Florence Wright and Miss Henrietta Bohling.

A SWIRLING COLLAR TRIMS
A SUAVE FROCK
PATTERN 2062
By ANNE ADAMS

There's an air of beautiful simplicity about this graceful afternoon frock which makes it look just as though it had come straight from the Champs Elysees. Notice the way its chic collar—held in place by three smart link-like buttons and cut in one with the bodice—swirls round the throat and ripples down to the waistline. The dolman sleeves not only strike a new and interesting style note but they're—oh so very comfortable to wear! If you are planning for a black silk or wool dress—and this season's wardrobe just isn't complete without them—you'd better choose this suave design.

Pattern 2062 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 4 1/4 yards 39 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included. Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

NEW BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

By VERA RAMSEY

In 1910 Porfirio Diaz, dictator of Mexico, stood at the pinnacle of his power. The year is the centenary of Independence; a great jubilee is in full and florid progress; nation vies with nation to show her honors upon the creator of a new Mexico. Yet the sound of the jubilee has barely passed away when all of this structure collapses and its greatest figure is an exile in Europe.

What had he done? He had forgotten that men will rebel, will prefer death to a life of slavery. There commenced in 1910 a Revolution from the bottom. Frank Tannenbaum tells of this in "Peace by Revolution." Men came to lead it and were betrayed, or fled or failed. There were Madero, Huerto, Carranza, Zapata, Villa, Obregon. Others took their place. It was a revolution without articulate social program. It was rooted in hunger, in hunger for the land.

What can equal revolution for terror and idealism and all those cleansing emotions from which great tragedy is made? Fiction cannot compete for color with the history of the uprising of an oppressed people. The truth about the Mexican Revolution has been too long kept from us. We were persuaded that the Mexican Revolution was an outbreak of savagery and nothing more. But there is a great deal more and "Peace by Revolution" gives it to us. The book is beautifully written with an inward vitality like a fire. It becomes a part of the reader, coloring his thought and painting his decisions.

Aside from being the formative period and the most truly critical period of American history, the years 1801 to 1815 also represented a most interesting period. The country was afire with energy and excitement. When a man went out in the morning, he was never certain what news he would meet, but he could be certain that it would be astonishing. It is of this dramatic period that Fletcher Pratt writes in "The Heroic Years."

In 1801 Jefferson took with him to the Presidency a bagful of ideal. He left office with only one of them intact, peace at any price. Mr. Pratt sets down the politics and financial juggling of Jefferson's two terms. The amazing American naval power in 1812 is foreshadowed in the Barbary battles. Lewis and Clark become the rallying point of new blood in the West. Jefferson combats the arrogant British attitude and pressing policy with ineffectual diplomacy and the Embargo.

Then Madison was in with an ear cocked to the younger men who would not brook England's arrogance. Finally the war, long in the brewing, broke. After a bad start America gained her own in a series of sea battles, the account of which reads like tales of the old Elizabethan sea captains. The war is the climax of the book; American independence was established without further chance of civil, and the most critical period of our history was concluded.

A tense and brilliant style makes this as good and thrilling reading as popular history can be.

New Books in the Public Library
The public is interested in Irvin S. Cobb himself as well as what he writes. This Fred C. Neuman gives us in his new biography "Irvin S. Cobb."

Here, in alluring fashion, are set down myriad facts in connection with his many-sided life. Here is the whole story of his glamorous and meteoric career. At sixteen he was a cub reporter. At nineteen he was the youngest managing editor of a daily newspaper in America. At thirty-three he was top salaried newsman in New York.

Today at fifty-six he has authored more than fifty volumes. He is known as a master short story writer and the world's foremost humorist. More of his short stories have appeared in anthologies than can be said of any other living American. His success as novelist, war correspondent, public speaker, and playwright and radio entertainer reveals a versatility that is amazing.

In this new book the author not only covers Mr. Cobb's literary landmarks, but offers a true and definite study of his achievements in other fields.

Other new books in the library are:

Adams, James Truslow—America's Tragedy.

Chanler, Mrs. Winthrop—Roman Spring.

THE TINYTIMES

"Hey, shut that thing off," Doty cried. "Wee Duncy's tiring of his ride. I'm sure he's getting dizzy. Why, he actually looks pale."

"You bet I do," said Duncy. "Gee, I know what will become of me, if I stay on here longer. Right out through the air I'll sail."

And, sure enough, the lad was right. It gave the Tinties quite a fright, as he flew from the phonograph and turned head over heels.

He landed on a big, soft chair, and Goldy shouted, "Well, look there! That lad is more than lucky. Now I wonder how he feels."

"Oh, much relieved," snapped Duncy. "Say, it will be fun if you tots play another real good record. Then you can all dance around."

"I hope the music's nice and sweet, 'cause it, to me, would be a treat. I'd stay right where I am and, very soon, be sleeping sound."

"Aw, there you go, you sleepy head! You always want to go to bed," said Copy, "but this time you won't. We're going to look around."

"Of course we have had enough. Even though it makes you pant and puff, you're going right along with us, to see what can be found."

Into another room they went and quite a little time was spent in climbing over great big chairs. Then Scouty cried, "Look here."

"A great, big cabinet!" I ahve spied. I'm wondering what is inside. I'm going to open up the door, so gather 'round real near."

"Be careful, now. It may be fun, but we'd all best be set to run. We're playing, now, with something we know nothing about."

And then the door was jerked real quick. Said Goldy, "Well, you've done the trick." In just about a moment, several funny men jumped out.

ARMISTICE DAY—ITS DEEPER MEANING

Armistice day, which brings a peculiar thrill to the soul of every adult, is being celebrated once again.

Who will forget that glorious eleventh of November, 1918, when the news was flashed around the world that the destruction of human life was over and that, at any rate, those who still lived would be returned to their homes and loved ones?

But we should remember the joy was occasioned by the stopping of the war. It was little occasioned by the victory of the war.

The interest and affection of millions of people were centered in their loved ones, the flower of the family. If he were still among the living, the anxiety was for a chance for that boy to come back, rather than that any particular achievement might be gained by diplomats or nations.

We cannot help but admire physical courage. We must ever cheer heroism. No man can visit the battlefields and see where human beings burrowed in like rats, to prevent complete annihilation, without having a sense of pride that the representatives of his nation were capable of doing all that they did, but we feel again that he is not quite human if he is not filled with unspeakable dread and horror of any repetition of such a tragedy.

We are celebrating today with war predicted as unavoidable in the very near future. And really the chief reason, for such inevitable conflict, is that the victors lost in the treaty of Versailles, fundamentally, what the valorous soldiers won upon the field.

We believe this can be said truthfully, because the soldiers fought for liberty. They fought for the preservation of democracy. They fought for the destruction of dictatorship. They fought against the coercion of smaller and autonomous people.

When the treaty of Versailles was drawn up, it was a travesty upon all those principles which had been an inspiration to the youth at the front and to the parents and the aged at home.

A great orator of America said, at one time, that any man is really a victor who has been conquered by the right. It is possible to conceive that the Central empires of Europe might have finally concluded that they were victors, because they had been conquered by the right, if, in the terms of peace laid down, there were tangible evidence that right and justice, which are the insurance of good will, were the regnant ideas in the minds of the directing statesmen of the victor nations.

So, at their very conference, the seeds of new conflict were sown, and they have been thoroughly irrigated by the waters of hate during the years, the supply of which has been insured by the pumping plants of propaganda, financed by the munition manufacturers, for dividends. And a new conflict, so they say, is inevitable.

Diplomats can gather today from all the nations of the earth and determine upon what is just and right, not only just as well as they could after a conflict, but they can do it better. The minds of the people are better prepared to do truth and justice now to one another, than after a period in which a great portion of their youth again has been destroyed.

Behold the nations, in the light of the purposes, as we supposed, of the conflict.—Germany, a dictatorship; Austria practically the same and fighting off the power of Hitler in the control of the state; Italy, a dictatorship; Russia, a complete revolution and a dictatorship; and a tendency of others emerging, if you can call it emerging from the debacle into Fascism and dictatorship!

On this day that we honor the brave boys whom we sent abroad to fight, with the promise that they were fighting for the very things which have been denied since, we should reconsecrate our lives to the removal of the causes of war, to addressing ourselves to the cause of peace. Peace will be brought about between nations in the same manner that it is brought about between individuals; with the spirit of justice and tolerance and love prevailing, with the agreements of concession and compromise, and, as among all civilized nations, with a court to which the parties can appeal in case of failure to personally reach an agreement.

No men could be braver than the men who fought in the great war. No sacrifices could be greater than those made by all people to win the great war.

Nothing could be hoped for from any conflict that would not be obtained from that conflict and written all over it is futility, futility, futility! We must find a better way or our civilization is gone.

THE SENATE PERSONNEL

One of the remarkable facts about the personnel of the next senate is the fact that there is scarcely any of the conservative old guard of the Republican party who have been vocal in the past left. The 1932 election eliminated Jim Watson, Hiram Bingham, George Moses, Samuel M. Shortridge, and Reed Smoot. And now the job has been practically completed by the defeat last week of Walcott of Connecticut, Reed of Pennsylvania, Robinson of Indiana, Fess of Ohio and Hatfield of West Virginia.

Excluding a few Democrats of the Carter Glass type, and one or two Republican senators who have held over from the Hoover regime, the senate has become a liberal body. Men like Couzens, Borah, Norris, Nye, Frazier, Norbeck, Republicans though they call themselves, have long since ceased to identify themselves with policies advocated by their party. All the new senators who will enter the new congress are of the liberal type.

This is the most extraordinary overturn that this country has ever seen. Before senators were elected by the people, the senate was looked upon as a chamber of moneybags or near-moneybags. Murray Crane, James H. Spooner, William A. Allison, Wadsworth, Proctor, Lodge—their like have gone. In their places are men who are very much closer to the people and closer to the tides of the modern temper.

There is little danger of a Fascist sweep over the country while that type of men holds the reins of power. Among them is a fairly uniform spirit and attitude. We may be certain that they will be sensitive to the needs of the common man. And as the common man is made to feel that there are those in power who are concerned about his welfare, he will be the more devoted to the government which is devoted to him.

THE LAFOLLETES CHOSE WISELY

In organizing an independent party in Wisconsin, the LaFollette brothers manifested a keen political insight. The defeat of Senator Blaine two years ago in the Republican primaries of that state, as well as that of Governor Phil LaFollette, which eliminated both from political life, was not a fate that Bob LaFollette was going to court.

So he broke away from the Republican organization of the state, organized a party of his own, and had himself, as well as his brother Phil, nominated respectively for senator and governor.

It was a daring throw, but it succeeded. Both of them overcame the Republican and Democratic opposition. Bob continues in the senate and Phil becomes governor after one term out.

The significance of their election as progressives may be very far-reaching. If there is to be a new realignment of parties, here is the beginning. Such a realignment already exists unofficially.

Secretary Ickes, the outstanding man of the cabinet, has always been a Republican, although of the progressive type. Senator Johnson, since his election by all parties, is beholden to none. Many of the closest of the president's aids have been affiliated hitherto with the Republican party.

It is too early yet to make predictions, but with the nearly complete collapse of the Republican party in last week's election, it is not at all unlikely that a coalition of progressives on one side and conservatives on the other may be formed for the next national election. Such a realignment has been long overdue. Both parties have been split into factions within their own ranks.

Hats

Boston Transcript

Were William Penn, in his astral shape, to hover about his statue atop the Philadelphia City Hall, he might ask, "Where did I get that hat?" The school children of his City of Brotherly Love observed the founder's birthday last week. Dr. William Cook Myers, member of the State Historical Commission, improved the occasion by telling a group of high school pupils that, save as its height is symbolical of Penn's grandeur and influence, the thirty-seven-foot statue is a gigantic misrepresentation. The face is not the face of Penn; he never wore the kind of clothes in which his supposed image is arrayed, and the hat is impossible.

It is apparent that this fault in the hat is not lightly to be disregarded. Many a man of distinction has been known by his hat. The fame of the hat goes along with the fame of the man. There was the hat of Napoleon, which Rostand has immortalized in "La Haine" likened to a vampire, although it was but of the style of the head covering of a village constable. Scores of pictures have made American schoolboys familiar with the towering beaver that aided in giving awesome dignity to the impressive features of Daniel Webster.

It would not be fair, however, to blame the man who crowned William Penn with a hat the like of which he never saw. The statue was in place long before the development of the movies. Obviously the sculptor was badly handicapped. Whatever else may be said of Hollywood, it does not, when it turns back to by-gone centuries to people the screen, adorn its characters as twentieth century fancy may dictate. It sets the research department at work. Should William Penn walk and talk for movie audiences, he will appear as he was clothed in the flesh, and Philadelphia school children will not be given erroneous ideas of the head-gear which he wore when he went out to bargain with the Indians beneath the trees of Pennsylvania. If statues of worthless dead and gone are wanted, for other city hall towers sculptors may now appeal to Hollywood for aid, and so avoid the kind of error which tops the effigy of William Penn.

Letters and Cheese

The Oakland Tribune

With the announced prospect of a National Cheese Week to start on Tuesday, sponsors of the ceremonies say that "as ludicrous as the association seems, the literary and romantic fancy of the world seems more often than not to have gone hand in hand with a generous portion of cheese."

Now here is a subject for exploration! There are more poets who did not starve in garrets because they had cheese, along with their bread and water, than those who succumbed to hunger. Cheese, indirectly, has been responsible for odes as well as odors.

There is the tale of the not gentle Xantippe, who ran out of the house those friends of Socrates who had brought cheese cakes with them. It is added the rampaging wife whose name has come down through the ages along with that of her philosophical husband, even jumped upon the cheese cakes.

Socrates, however, clung to his cheese. It is written that Mr. Pickwick favored a wide variety of cheeses, and that Ben Johnson as well as Dr. Johnson, who came after, were given to eating heartily of cheese. And so much for the influence of cheese on literature. The Cheese Week planners close with another thought:

"A man, poet, an epicure may be neutral on almost all food subjects—but when it comes to cheese, he is bound to be partisan. There is no subject on which feeling runs higher. Insult a lover of Stilton by offering him Cheshire? Better accuse him of cheating at cards. Proffer Camembert—when Roquefort is king? O, Unhappy Host! suggest that Parmesan may be used in place of sharp cheddar in the preparation of a Welsh Rabbit? Perish the thought!"

"Quibble with aman about his politics, challenge his religion, question his family tree—but never, never argue with him about his tastes in cheese."

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

WHERE CREDIT WAS DUE

The Persians are about to celebrate the thousandth birthday of their poet, Firdausi.

Perhaps this old fellow, Firdausi
Was a pretty fair bard, for his time;
Beyond any doubt
The fellow turned out
A lot of good readable rhyme,
But the one only poet of Persia
To whom I would throw a salaam,
The sole lad whose name
I would hail with acclaim,
Is cheerful Omar Khayyam.

He sang of the joys of contentment;
He daily invited his soul
With the juice of the vine;
To wit, the red wine.
Which he sipped from a great flowing bowl,
While the fears and the cares and the troubles
Of a world that was bitter and grim,
And the struggles and strife
Of a world-weary life
Meant nothing whatever to him.

Firdausi—dear reader, I ask you,
Is his monicker one you recall?
Just think, and think hard:
Did you dwell on this planet at all?
Ever dwell on this planet at all?
Old Omar took life as he found it,
For worries he gave not a rap,
But you're forced to admit
That his tippling and wit
Put the land of Iran on the map.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLEN FRANK

MODS THAT MAKE OUR TIME

One of the most useful of contemporary publicists, G. D. H. Cole, has just published A Guide to Modern Politics which deserves careful reading by every literate American who wants intelligently to thread his way through the baffling mazes of this baffling time when the whole world is experimenting its way towards some new social equilibrium.

Here are some of the moods that Mr. Cole subjects to searching analysis as moods that are making our time.

(1) An uneasy feeling that both in political and in economic organization the world is getting nowhere.

(2) A feeling that the existing forms both of political government and of economic and social organization are definitely inappropriate to the tasks they are supposed to perform.

(3) A growing sense of vast potential wealth going foolishly to waste.

(4) A widespread fear of insecurity among all those who have hitherto possessed some measure of security.

(5) A special and intense fear of Communism regarded as an alien creed seeking to impose world domination.

(7) A general sense at least among the younger folk, of the fatality of all the old political parties.

(8) An epidemic demand that something be done, without any very clear knowledge without any should be done.

(9) A flight from the terrifying complications of modern world problems to the over-simplification of extreme nationalism.

(10) The vehement reassertion of the rights of private property by large and small property owners alike.

(11) A growing demand for State intervention to help any section of the community that feels the pinch of economic adversity.

(12) A flight from representative institutions to personal leadership.

(13) A tendency to think of politics less in terms of discussion and more in terms of coercion and violence.

These are moods with which political leadership must today reckon the world around. They have been the animating forces back of the turn to strong governments of the Fascist sort. They are vividly present in the United States. They must be reckoned with.

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

TO HIM THAT HATH

How easy it is for successful children to succeed. Everybody they meet takes a delight in forwarding them. Doors are opened wide to receive them and all their ways are pleasant ways and all their days are peace.

Friends and relatives smile upon the successful child and bring him presents. They remember to take him with them when they go on journeys to far off and interesting places. The teachers always smile when they speak to him. There is always a note of pride and praise in their voices when they mention his name. When he is the least bit bothered about a problem their attitude is helpful and soothing and stimulating. He comes through with colors flying.

But the unpromising child, the slow and "staccato" one who lives in dread of making mistakes, who sits low in his bench in an effort to escape attention, this helpless one who needs support and encouragement, what about him? Oftener than not he is allowed to retire to the back benches, passed over whenever there is any difficulty about his work. When his very presence demands attention it is, oftener than not, given impatiently, hastily, as an unpleasant task to be gotten over and done with as fast as possible.

"For he that hath, to him shall be given: and he that hath not, from him shall be taken even that which he hath." That is not a divine command. It is a bit of infinite wisdom that breathes infinite understanding of human failing. It is easy and pleasant for us to promote success but it is dreary drudgery to lift the dead weight of failure to its stumbling feet.

The teacher has no choice. It is his duty, his moral and social and contractual duty to lift the failing child. The successful one needs very little help. His ability to help himself is the teacher's opportunity to help the helpless one. Five minutes a day of personal, graciously bestowed help, a flashing smile in passing, a whisper of encouragement at the beginning of a lesson, will give such a child a tremendous life and make all the difference in life to him. It may not be possible to give him power to compel him to succeed, but we can and we ought to help him to hold what he has and add somewhat to it.

The full burden of this problem does not rest on the class teachers. It is not possible for a teacher of a big group to do much for a handicapped child. It is the duty of the school authorities to provide for the instruction, the care and the development of such children, in special classes. Special teachers, those who have prepared themselves for such work, should be provided for all unusual children of the community. Courses of study should be arranged with a view of making them useful and happy, and successful, within their ability.

There is no sense in telling us that there is no money for such work. The children are with us and they must be cared for and the best place for that work is in the schools. Jails and reformatories are the symbols of the pronouncement—"he that hath not, from him shall be taken even that which he hath."
